The one thing that makes life so exciting is the fact that it is a never-ending cycle of changes. Innovations are constantly being brought about, but within days or weeks or months, the changes which were once new and revolutionary become traditions, bases for more changes.

Students at Robert E. Lee started the year ready to conquer any challenge they might face. And in fact there were many challenges to meet. The addition of a freshman class to Lee brought with it many changes. The increase in enrollment from 2000 in the '79-'80 school year to 2700 in '80-'81 made it necessary for the students to put up with incredibly crowded halls, to spend valuable passing time finding the "up" or "down" stairways, and to tolerate a fourth period lengthened to 70 minutes in order to accommodate four lunches.

The initial animosity between the freshmen and the other classes soon quieted down, however, as the "fish" began to find their niche at Lee. The sophomore, junior and senior classes forgave the freshmen for all of the inconveniences caused by their presence, and the freshmen forgave the other classes for all the hassling they received. After the first month of conflict, the freshmen became a vital and vibrant part of Lee.

For Lee's students, school activities were not limited to the time between 8:00 am and 2:50 pm. Lee High School played a much greater role in the lives of its students — most were involved in at least one of Lee's numerous extra-curricular activities, and many spent countless hours away from school participating in school-related activities such as sports and service organizations. November's presidential election was the subject of numerous heated debates among students and teachers, and students demonstrated a great interest in and awareness of the world's political activities. On November 4, Americans elected a new president, in high hopes that he would be able to initiate changes that would improve the American system.

The federally imposed law prohibiting the sale of soft drinks before 1:00 pm caused a great deal of controversy, because students now had to drink Hi-C and other sugar-loaded drinks instead of the Diet Dr. Pepper and Tab to which they were accustomed. But by the end of the year, this change had been accepted reluctantly by the students, who had begun to turn their attention to other matters of greater importance.

As always, partying was one of the most important parts of student life. Toward the end of every week, students could be heard discussing which parties they would be going to that weekend, and Monday morning's conversation was invariably dominated by the details of the previous weekend's excitement (or lack thereof!).

Formals gave the girls a chance to ask out the guys of their choice, and Homecoming and the Prom gave the guys the opportunity to take out their favorite girls. Aside from these organized events, there were always the impromptu get-togethers among friends at each other's houses. Movies were high on the list of entertaining activities, and students took advantage of Houston's many restaurants and clubs for eating, drinking and dancing.

Young Life and Campaigners continued to be a means of Christian fellowship for many students. Involved students were able to make lasting friendships and to get to know themselves better through theological discussion.

Lee's endless list of activities provided such a diversity of entertainment that its students very rarely were faced with a lack of things to do.

Sports was a key part of Lee life — even those students not directly involved in athletic programs were involved indirectly through attendance at football, volleyball, basketball and baseball games throughout the year. Lee athletes performed well in many areas.

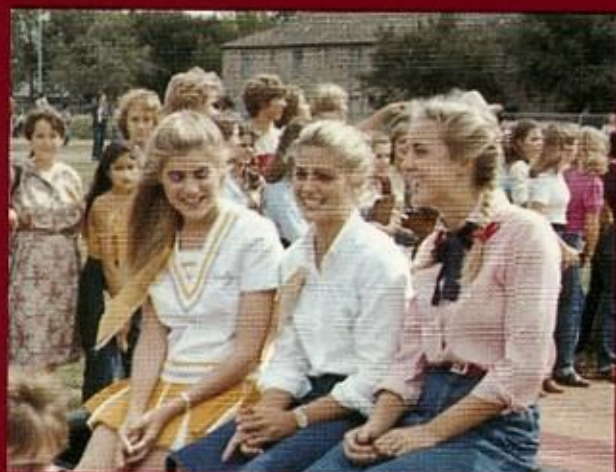

The football team, with the addition of a new coach and the loss of the majority of its championship team of 1980, spent the year working toward a district winning team next year. School spirit was high at the weekly pep rallies and games. Many students devoted a large amount of time in support of the school's athletic teams through participation in such organizations as Spirit Committee and the General Guard.

School sports was not the students' only interest, however. The support of the Houston Astros was at a peak, as was seen through the establishment of an Astro Day and through the early dismissal of students to see an Astros playoff game.

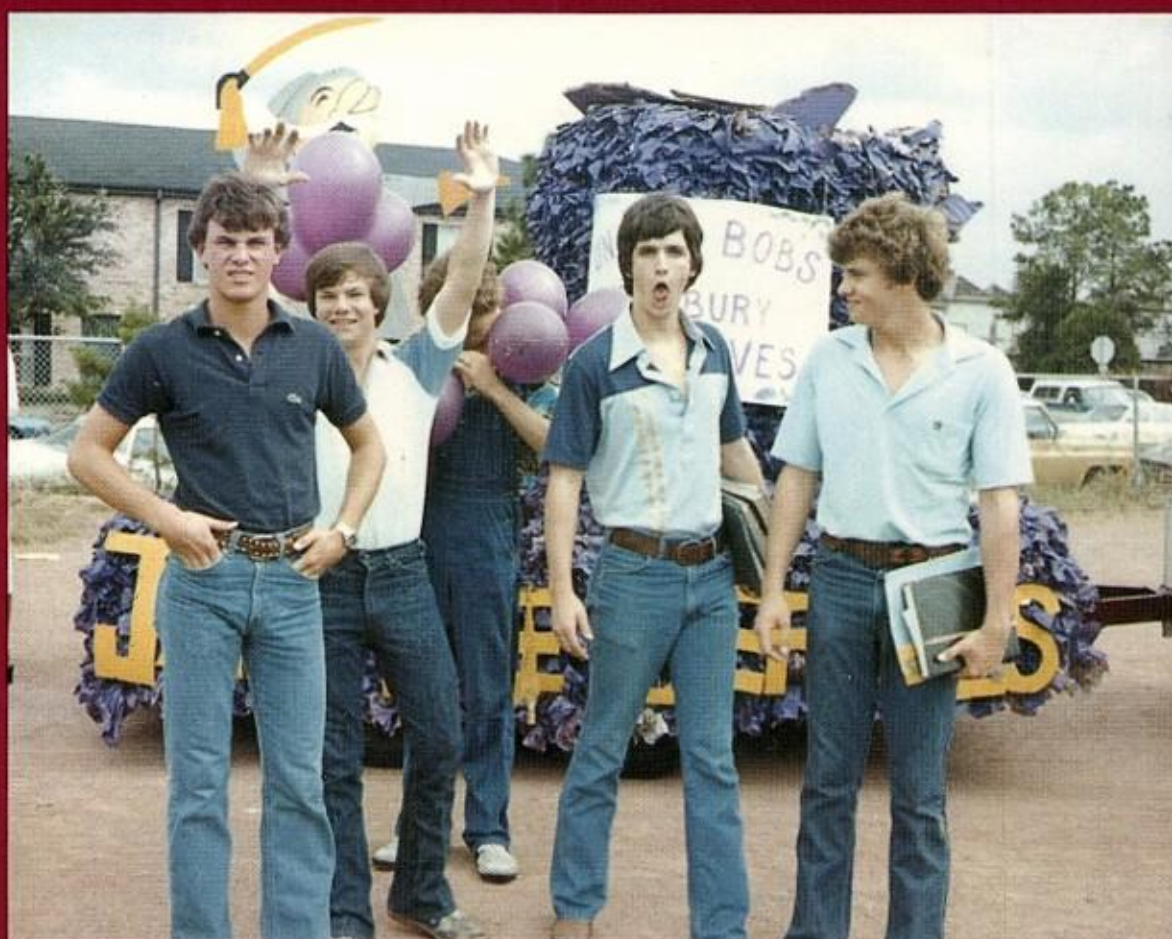

Spirits were soaring on October 17, Homecoming Day. A new tradition of having the Homecoming parade on the track was started, and the new location proved very successful. The students put many hours' work into the making of floats and costumes, and their efforts were rewarded by a very smooth-running parade.

Lee played Westbury that night at Butler Stadium, and the players put everything they had into a close game, but, unfortunately, they lost by one point against Westbury's top-ranked team. They never lost the support of the student body, however, as spirit never dimmed.

Traditions are a great part of life at Lee, but they are not so set that they cannot be modified with the times. Some changes of tradition are accompanied by a great deal of controversy; others evolve without notice. But whether the changes are big or small, sudden or gradual, important or trivial, we learn to adapt to all of them. And as we become accustomed to each innovation, it becomes a foundation for more changes, and we learn that each change is only a small part of the cycle of changes we call life.

FAVORITES

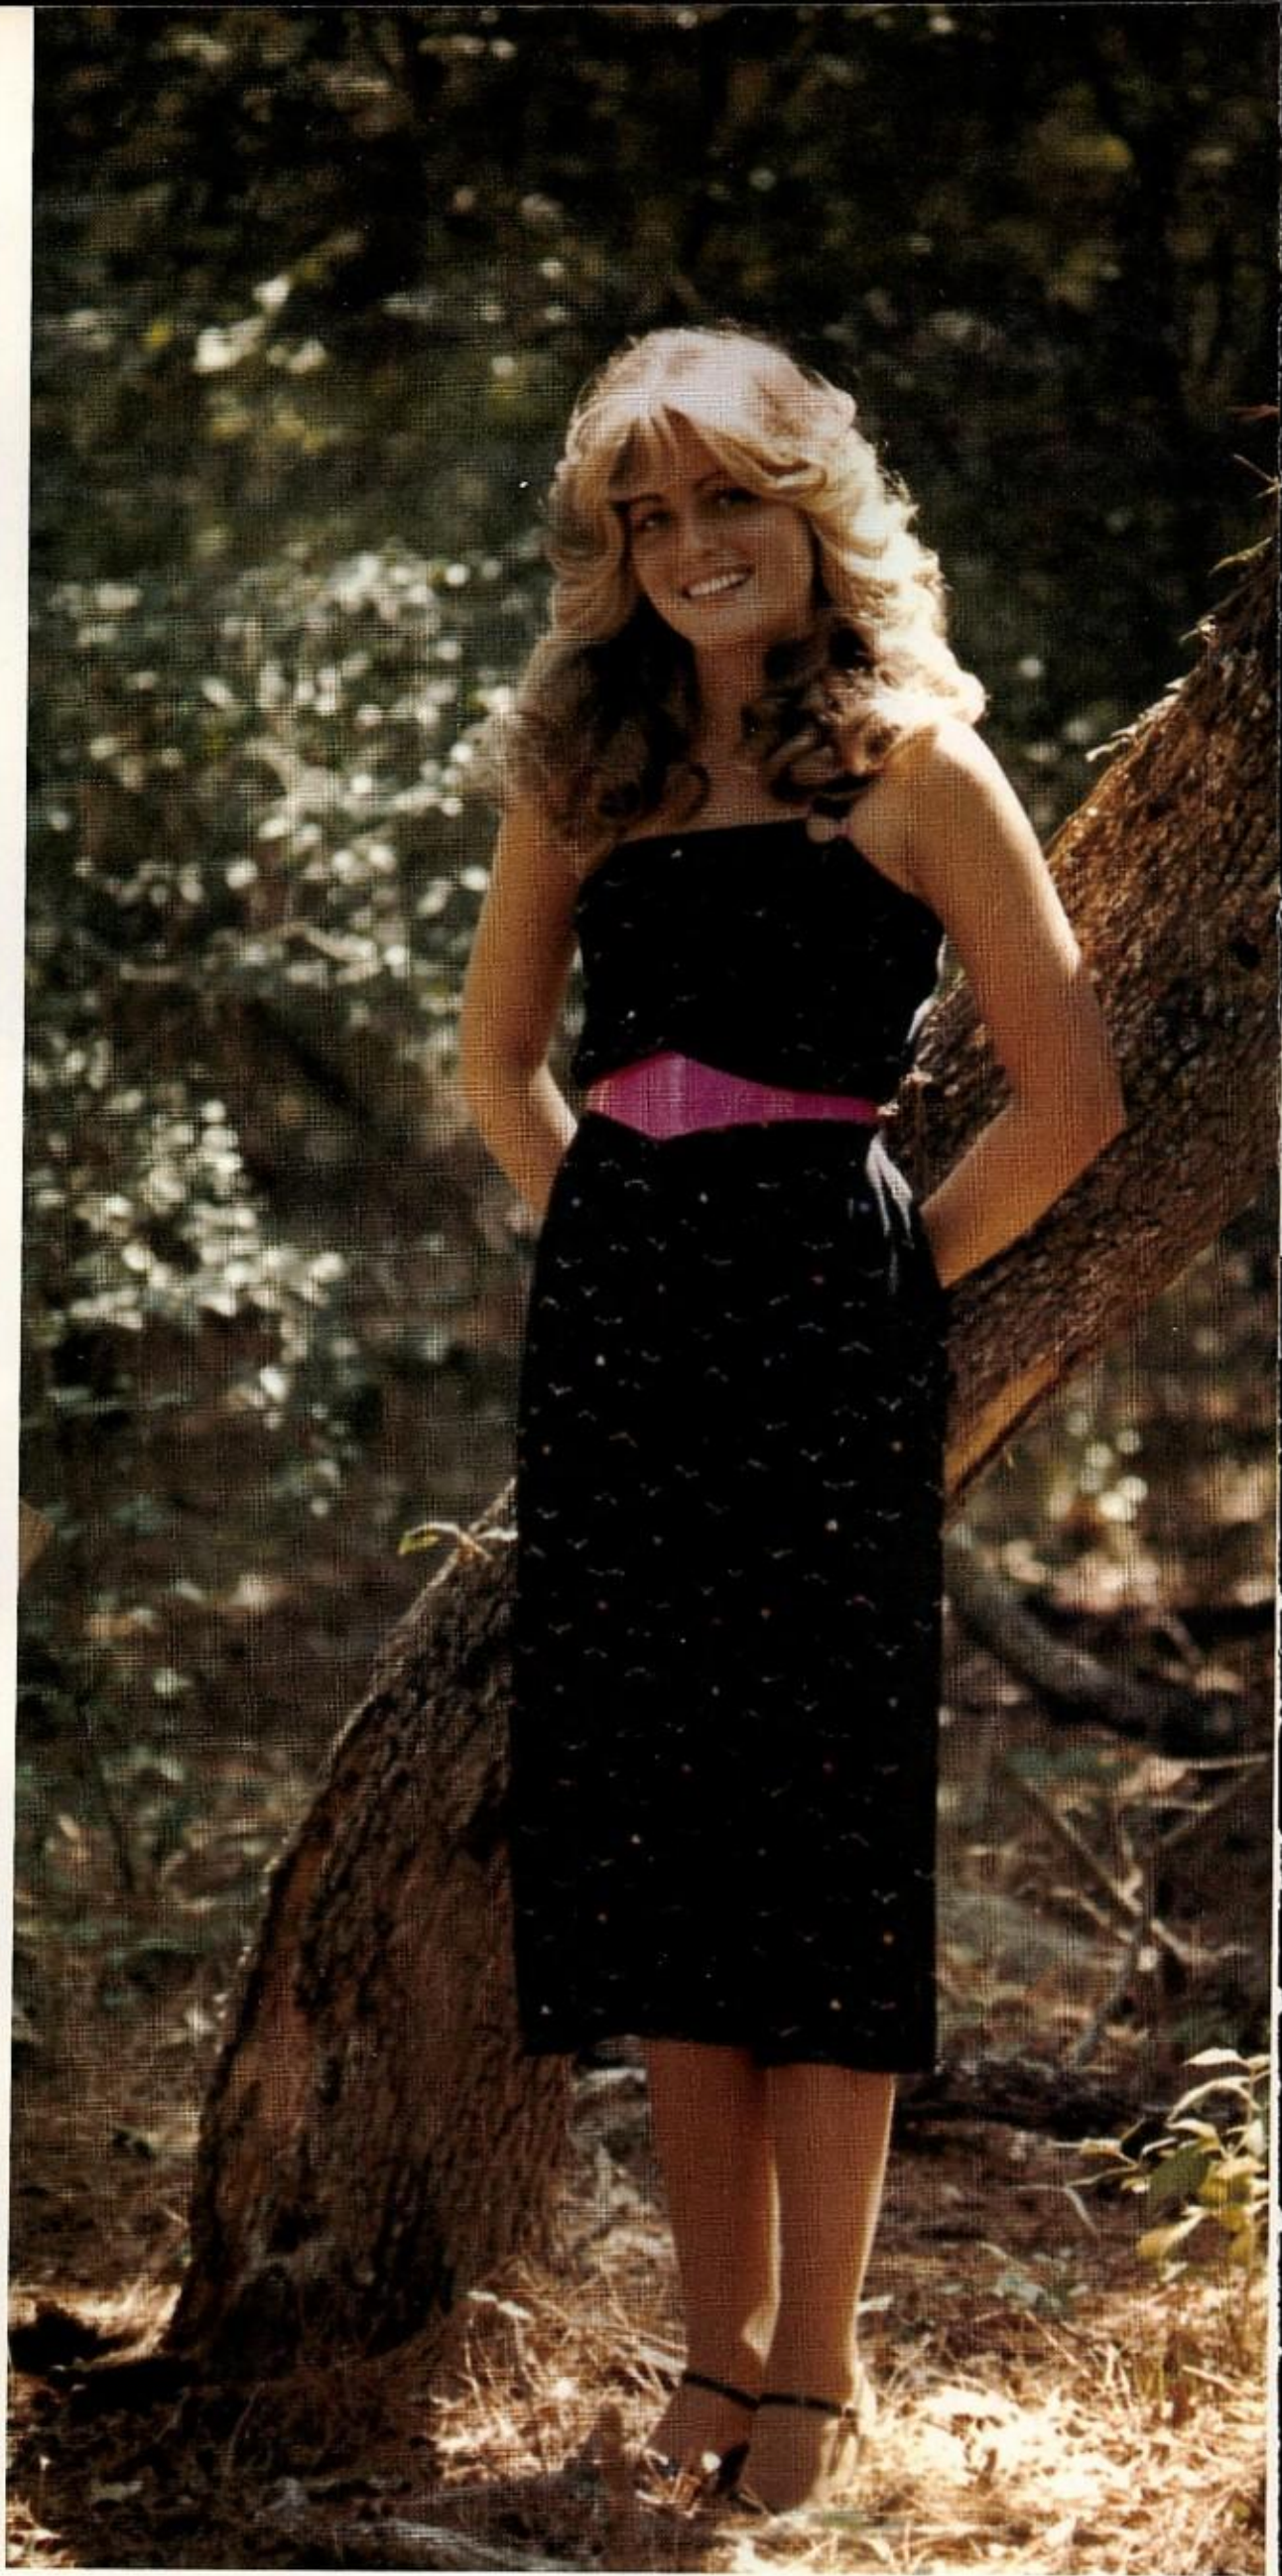

Each of Lee's students had his own special qualities, but there were some who particularly stood out as representatives of beauty, personality, or intelligence. These students earned the admiration and respect of all.

Activities

Learning influenced students' minds, but activities influenced their characters. Activities gave students necessary relief from the pressures of schoolwork and provided the opportunity for interaction within the student body. Even more importantly, though, the activities of students' high school years would become the memories of their future.

Newcomers Begin But . . .

Summer came to a sudden halt on August 25, when the swinging doors of Bobby Lee Tech opened for another year. Beach parties turned into weekend bashes.

New and younger students were in for a shock with all of Lee's mighty festivities. Seniors began the year yearning for college life, although it wasn't far off. Freshmen and sophomores attended Orientation to prepare them for Lee life.

Top: "Do you really think we might get dates with seniors?" questions June Rogers to fellow sophomore Debbie Cambell.

Bottom Right: "I wish we had made the halftime show!" cry Suzanne Jablonowski, Sarah Austin and Todd Dettling.

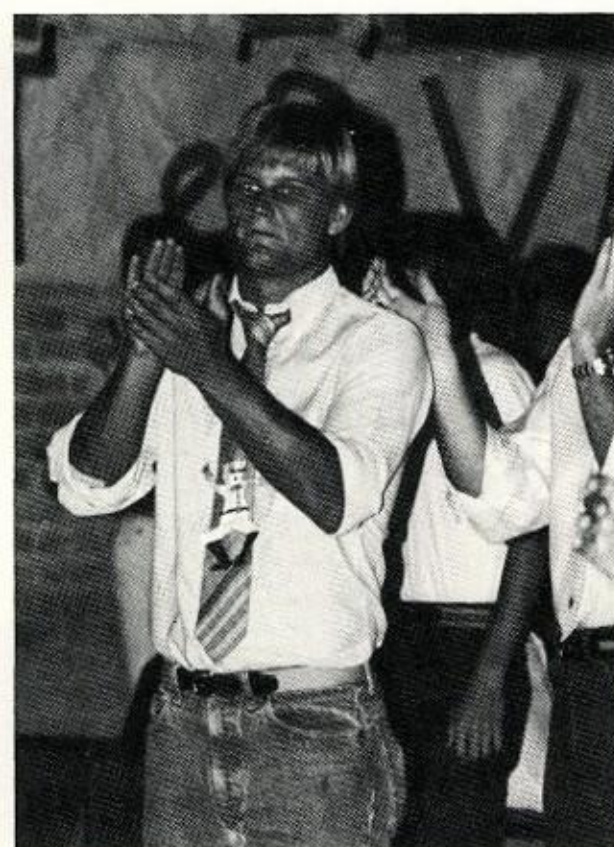

Seniors Are Superior!

Top: David Moody finds that he can get more dates with the Urban Cowboy effect as Lisa Crouch truly agrees.

Middle Left: "That's the second time you've played the wrong song!" cries an angry Rick Ellis to John Marion.

Middle Right: Mark Milstead shows his support for being chosen offensive player of the week.

Bottom: "Mom never told me a date could be so fun!" exclaims Paul Craig to Shannon Killman as Steve Bailey enviously looks on.

And We're Tomorrow's Future?

Top Left: "I thought sea urchins weren't supposed to bite!" sighs DeDe Gilliam.

Bottom: "You mean I really get to be the centerpiece at the football banquet?" questions an excited Randy Ray to escorts Cliff Tenner, Kenny Womack and Harold Vance.

Top Left: "I'm not so sure about this group therapy idea," says Andy McConn to fellow lunatics.

Top Right: "Maybe if we smile they won't know what we've been up to!" exclaim Keith Forrester and Johnette Skalla.

Bottom Right: "I got my skoal, I got my gal. Ain't nothing gonna make me move now," cries Keith Cruthirds, while Lisa Haught can only sigh with disgust.

Homecoming Sparks Spirit

Although the parade was relocated to the track, the school spirit was truly present on Homecoming Day, October 17th. Clubs organized their time and thoughts to create their own floats. Mums were to be seen at restaurants and parties. Lori Kelly was named the 1980 Homecoming Queen.

Top: Interact goes for new wave.

Middle: "MOOO!" sigh the cows.

Bottom: Homecoming queen nominees Darby Wilson, Lori Kelly and Carolyn Claypool don't mind all the extra attention on homecoming day.

Cheerleaders Spark Enthusiasm

The cheerleaders of '80-'81, Anne Moore, Charlotte Loeffler, Jane Jordan, Darby Wilson, Jeff Longwell, Robert Best, Gardner Landry, and Doug Bailey, led the Lee student body in THE GENERAL SPIRIT.

The enthusiasm of the cheerleaders won them 5 blue ribbons and 3 spirit sticks at SMU cheerleading camp last summer.

The cheerleaders attended all of the football games, and they attended most of the basketball and volleyball games, under the supervision of Mrs. Regina Satlof Block.

Welcome

For the first and what will be the only time, Lee found itself with ninth grade cheerleaders.

The eight cheerleaders pictured here were elected by the Rogers student body last spring before the H.I.S.D. decided to close Rogers as a junior high and send the ninth grade to Lee.

As a group they cheered at ninth grade games and put on the pep rallies for their team. They worked hard on routines and became special favorites of the freshmen and upper classmen alike.

The Old Days Revived

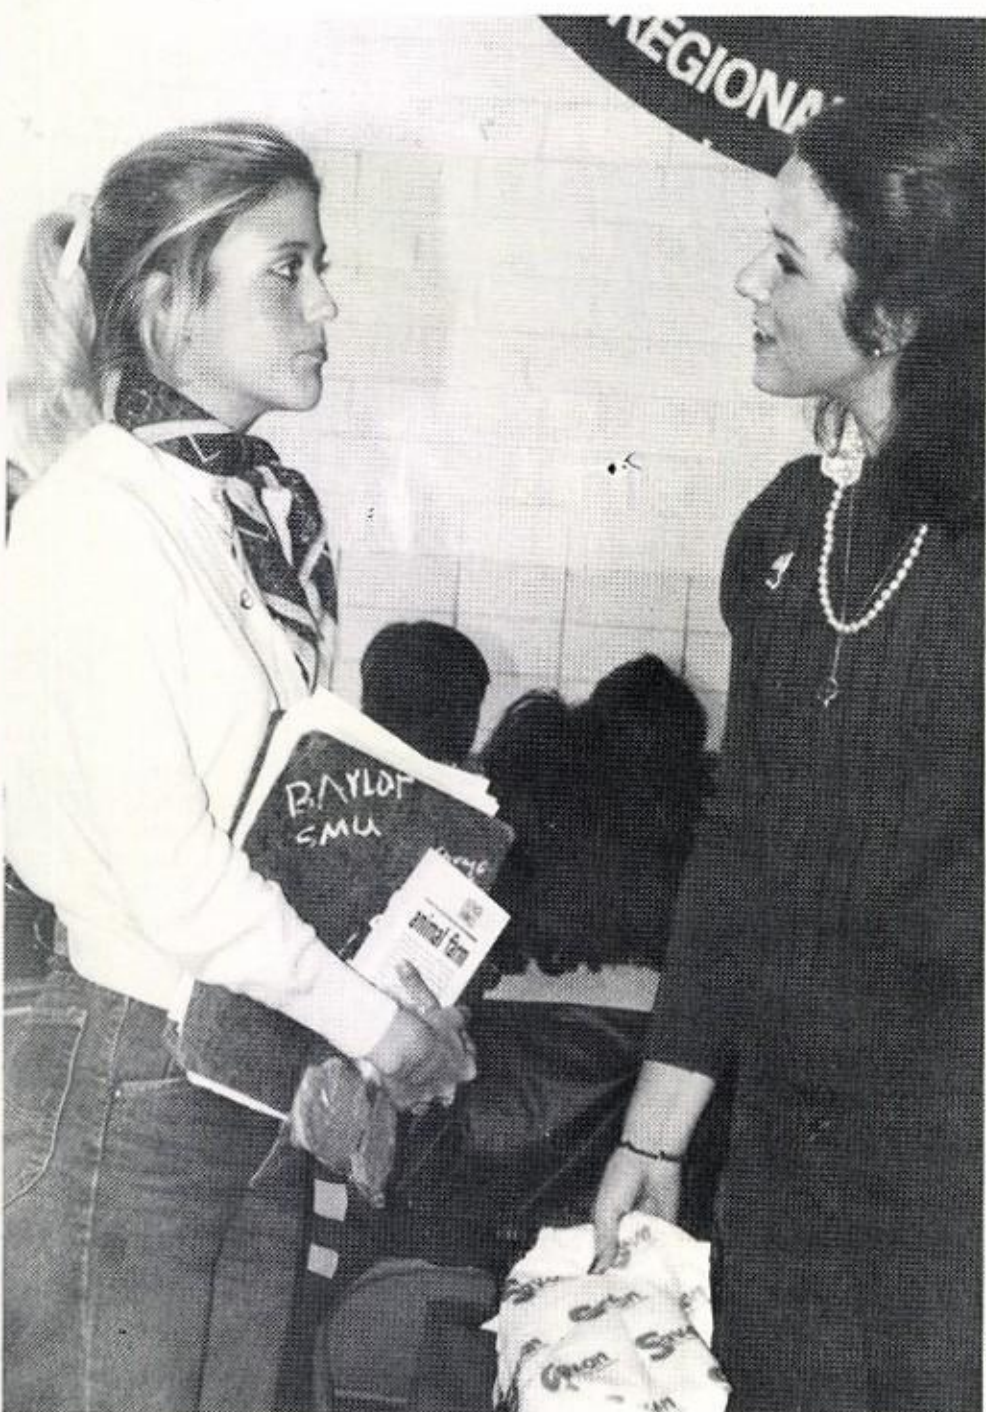

Lipstick, full skirts, and slicked down hair were only a few characteristics of 50's Day participants. Highlighting the annual event was the Senior Cabinet's presentation of American Graffiti.

Top: "We may not have made A Chorus Line but at least we have dates to the sock hop!" exclaim Jean McCaskill, Leah Benson, Celia Lewis, and Emily Ballew.

Bottom Left: "You mean I'm all decked out and today's not even 50's Day?" says Mary Myers to Lisa Turner.

Below: "Are you kidding, I can dance faster than any partner you can find," claims Kate Dalthorp to Kissy Butler.

Holidays Bring Cheer

Christmas holidays brought about choral programs, Razz shows, and Secret Santas. The Young Life Ski Trip and New Year's Eve parties occupied our valuable time while off from school.

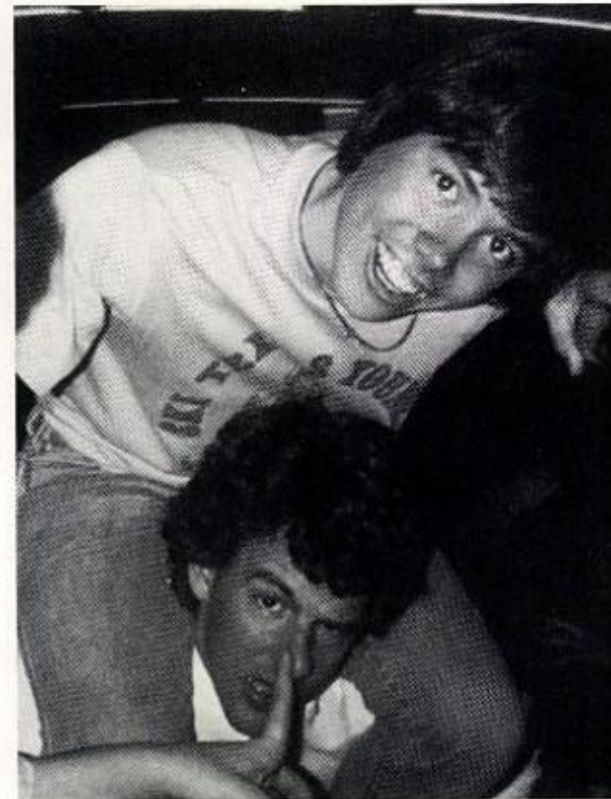

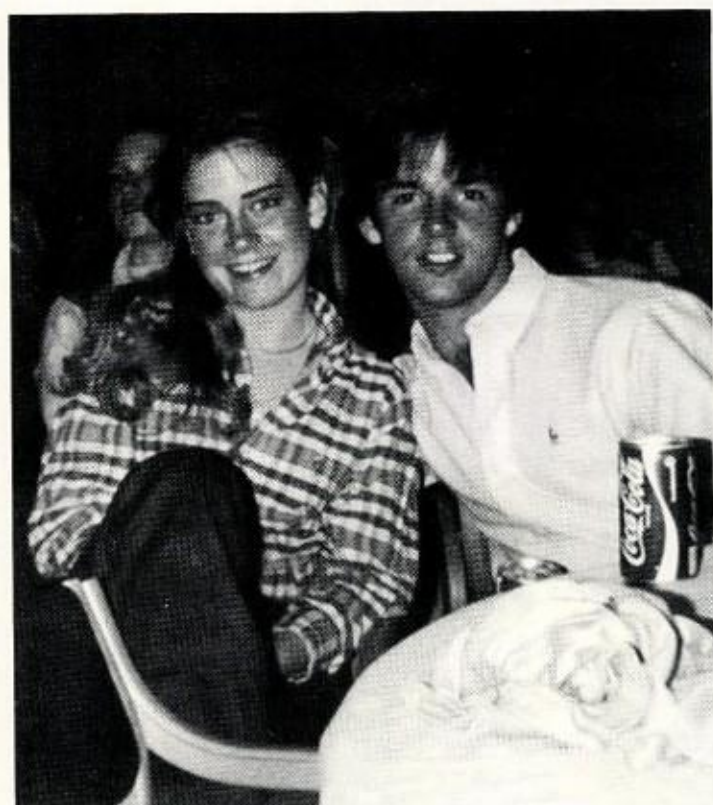

Top: Rick McConn is amused by Mark Hamilton's ski-slope studliness.

Bottom Right: "I may be small but luggage rack — NO WAY!" says Donnie Garcia to Matt Clemens.

Bottom Middle: "This bus ride is gonna throw my beauty sleep off," yawns a weathered Julie Held.

Below: "You're so lucky to have a younger woman like me in your old age!" boasts Kay Dickerson to Bret King.

Above: "Don't even ask what I've been up to!" grins Gwen King to Clare Donnelly and Doug Bailey.

Top: Senior girls let the good times roll.

Right: Leigh Hamilton and Scott Biggerstaff try role reversal as a last resort to save their relationship.

Night Life Is Party Life

Above Right: "Golly gee wiz Gregg, this has just got to be the swellest party ever," exclaims nub Lissy Perryman to her nub date Greg Herring.

Right: "My psychic powers tell me that you are going to have the best night of your life," promises Jim Jimmerson to Mary Myers.

Above: "It's all in the lips, fellas," demonstrates experienced Mrs. Wisdom to the naive Gardner Landry and Bill Workman.

Upper Left: "Yes, those are my feet you keep stepping on," whispers Johnette Skalla to a misleading Stuart Gregory.

Left: "The devil made me do it," explains Glen Gray to Mary Church as Julie Perkins warms up to the idea.

Lower Left: "I'll never be able to bear another hug like this," growls Mark Hamilton to a powerful Estelle DiFiore.

School Days Are Wild Days

Below Right: "Just one more inch and my hostage release plan would have worked," complains a disappointed Mark Jaeggars.

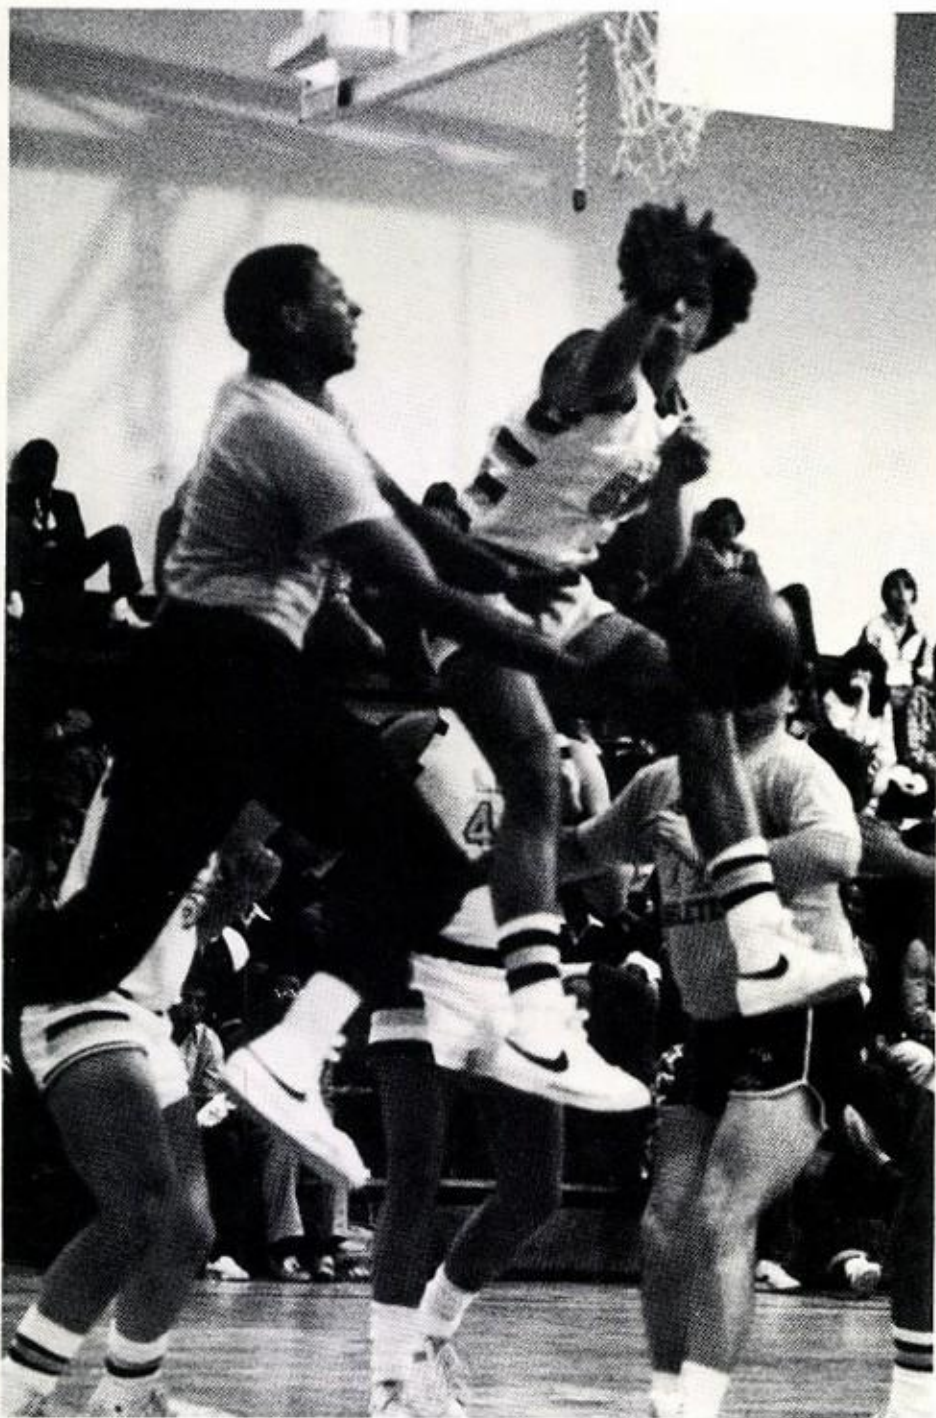

Below: "I thought this cafeteria food was bad, but look what my mom gave me," says Cynthia Mott to Lisa Timmons.

Faculty Frolics

Teachers as well as students participated in many activities throughout the year. A fitness class was started to help faculty members trim off those extra inches. Student-teacher relationships were kept alive through Teacher Appreciation days sponsored by several clubs. With the Varsity-Faculty basketball game, the interaction of teachers and students was at its height. The varsity team won, of course, 51-43.

Above: "Jumping rope each day keeps the doctor away," pants an enthusiastic Thera Yoes.

And Look What

David King boastfully displays his technique.

Michael Burns, Robby Miller, Wade Simon, Travis Lynch, and Jonathan Harris celebrate the basketball team's victory over Westbury.

"See, we aren't so dumb," quip jocks Matthew Zander, Jay Houston, and Mike Moore, entertaining one another with their new balloon.

Comes Out at Night!

"We hate posed pictures!" sneer Blake Buie, Katherine Miller, Kelly O'Neill, Elizabeth Hightower, Nancy Higginbotham, and Katherine Hurt.

"I'm satisfied with my date," says a confident Keith Karnoski of Colleen Perepeluk, not realizing she is about to be swept away.

"Let's go b-bonging," exclaims Doug Gray to an excited Mark Wade and Brenda Baker.

The spring musical "Fiddler on the Roof" with Everett A'Costa and Traci Daus in the starring roles of Tevye and Golde respectively was presented by the Fine Arts Department under the direction of Miss Linda Shuler, Miss Eleanor Grant, and Mrs. Anne Hair.

Preparing for the musical involved everything from designing sets to memorizing lines, and on the opening night, February 27, all the hard hours of work paid off. Audiences were captivated with renditions of the well known scores "Tradition," "Match Maker, Match Maker," and "If I Were a Rich Man."

Coverage on the local TV news added to the play's advertising and helped financially when viewers made generous donations to the drama department. The outstanding qualities of acting and directing combined to form a successful entertaining performance.

Upper Left: "A man's job is not doing the laundry," complains a frustrated Joe Kirkendall.

Upper Right: "Zo I ask you, Vhat is tradition?" questions Everett (Tevye) A'Costa to the music of Beth Jones' fiddle.

Middle: Page Curtis, Britt Fuller, Beth Ross, and Suzanne Pruitt dance in hopes that the next wedding will be theirs.

Lower Right: "Oh, Romeo, Romeo! Wherefore art thou, Romeo?" exclaims Emily Ballew

"Fiddler" Tops It Off

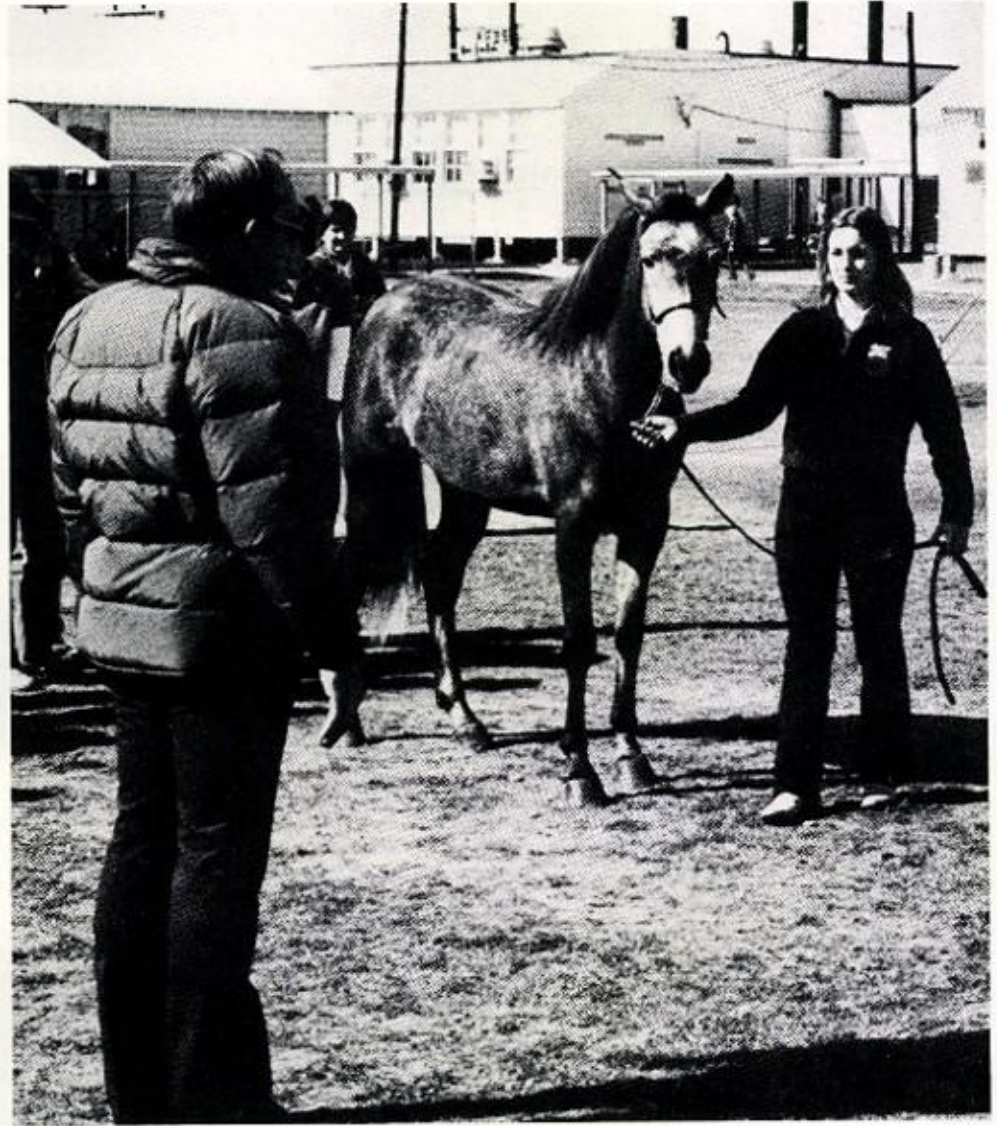

Above: Emily (Tzeitel) Ballew and Joe (Motel) Kirkendall get down on their hands and knees and pray the show will be a success.

Lower Left: "Not tonight dear, I have a headache," states weary Everett A'Costa to a stunned Traci Daus.

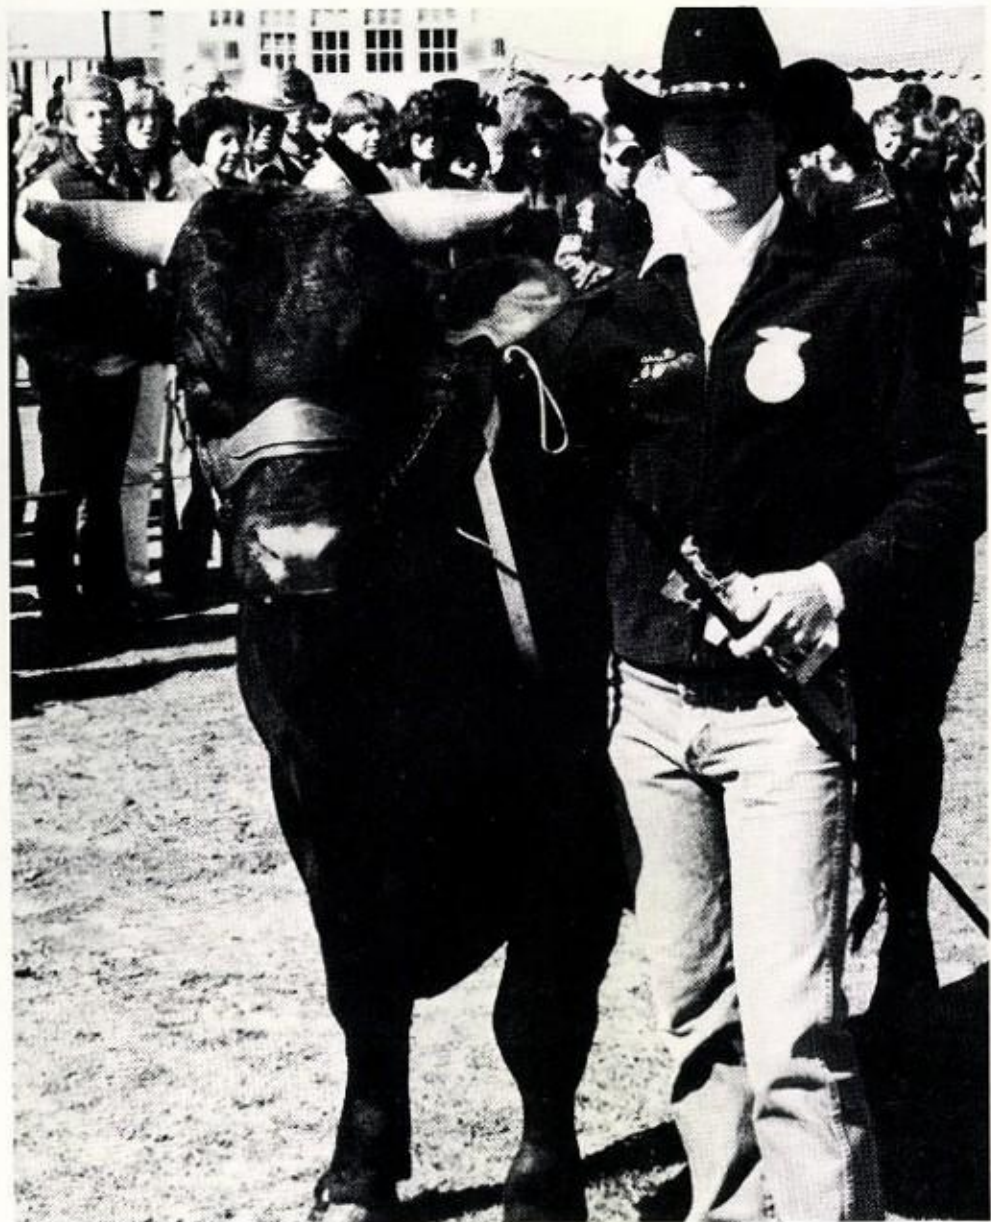

The Animals

Trina Rustum walks in pain from riding Old Blue too long.

"Don't worry, little bunny," says Leslie Browning, "I won't let them make you into a fur coat."

Do It Again

Mary McClenny makes a last minute ear wax check.

Having tried for hours, Kathy Gaynor and Liz Pipkin finally get their horses under control.

"Who has the best 'bull'?" question Jeff Trapnell, Liz Pipkin, Darrell Hill, Anthony Saragusa, and Mark Opperman.

Spring Craze

Interact defeats Key Club in their spring game.

Practicing on their way to stardom, Gardner Landry and Harold Vance take advantage of the good weather.

"I sure wish my brother would quit picking on my dates," remarks a perturbed Shelley Brazelton.

Though physically trapped in class, spring fever victim Dixie Nagel finds her mind soaring into the wild blue yonder.

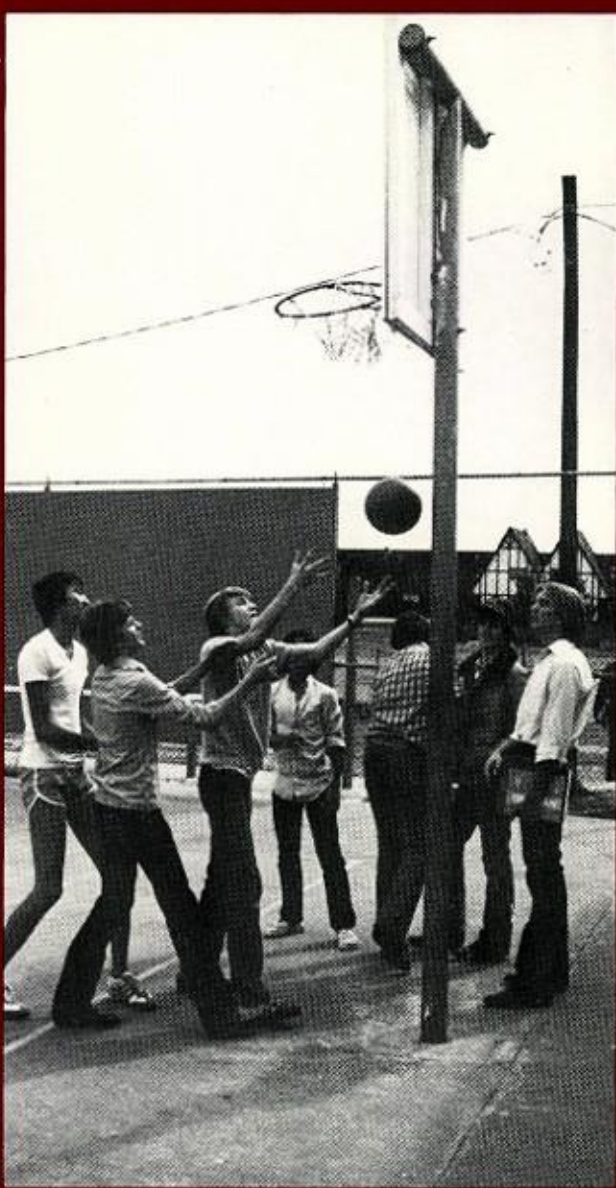

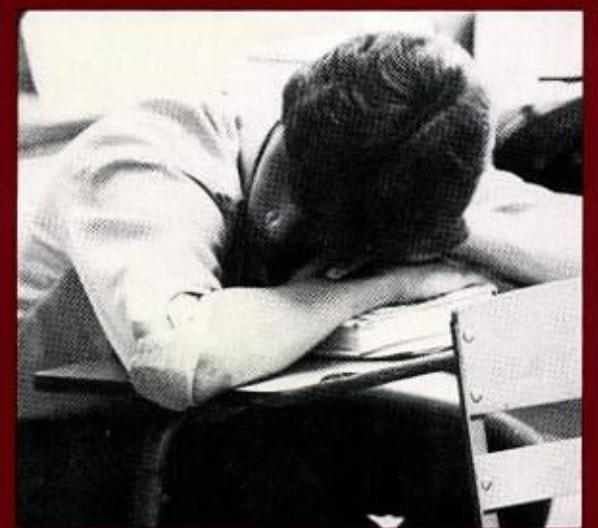

Sophomores group together with hopes of being noticed.

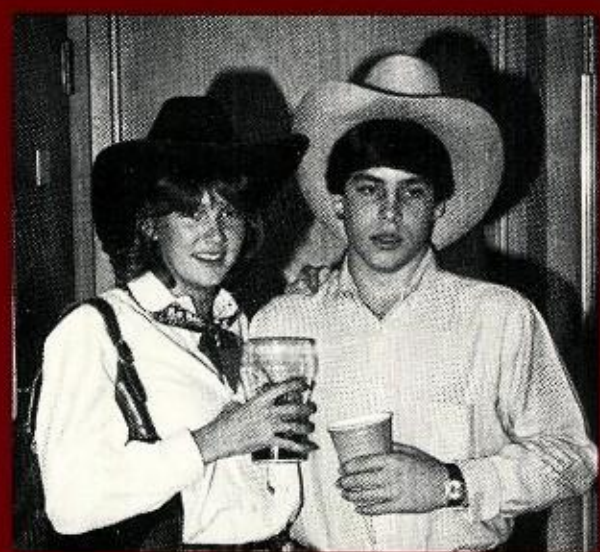

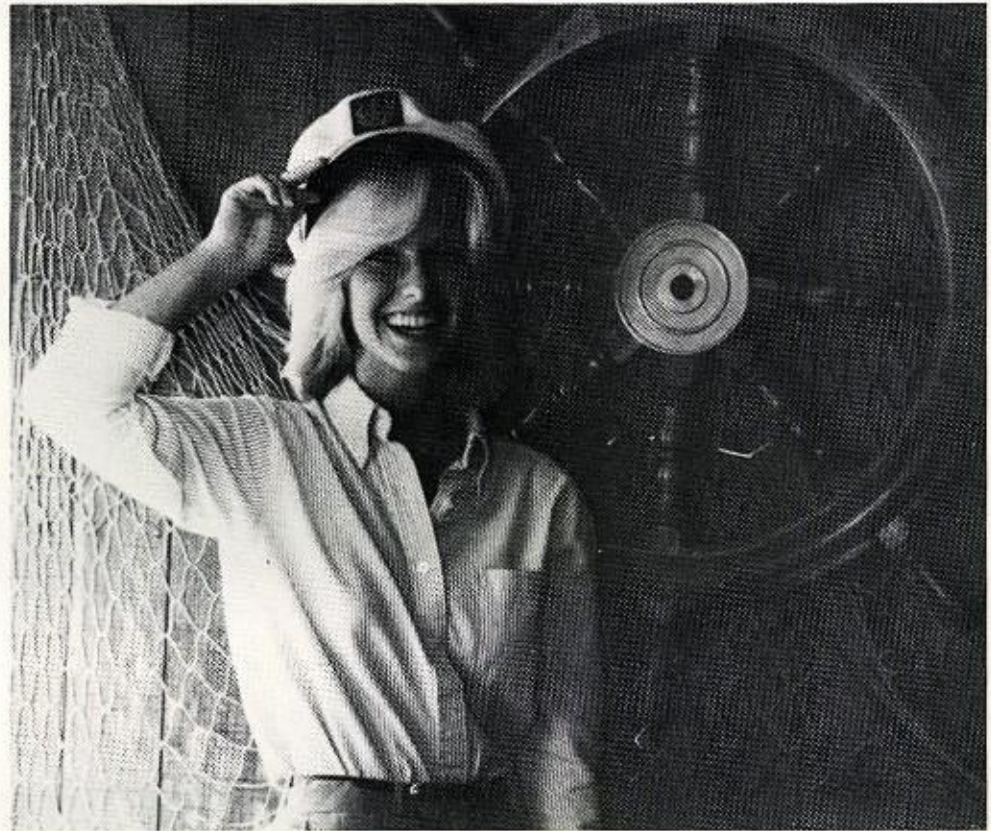

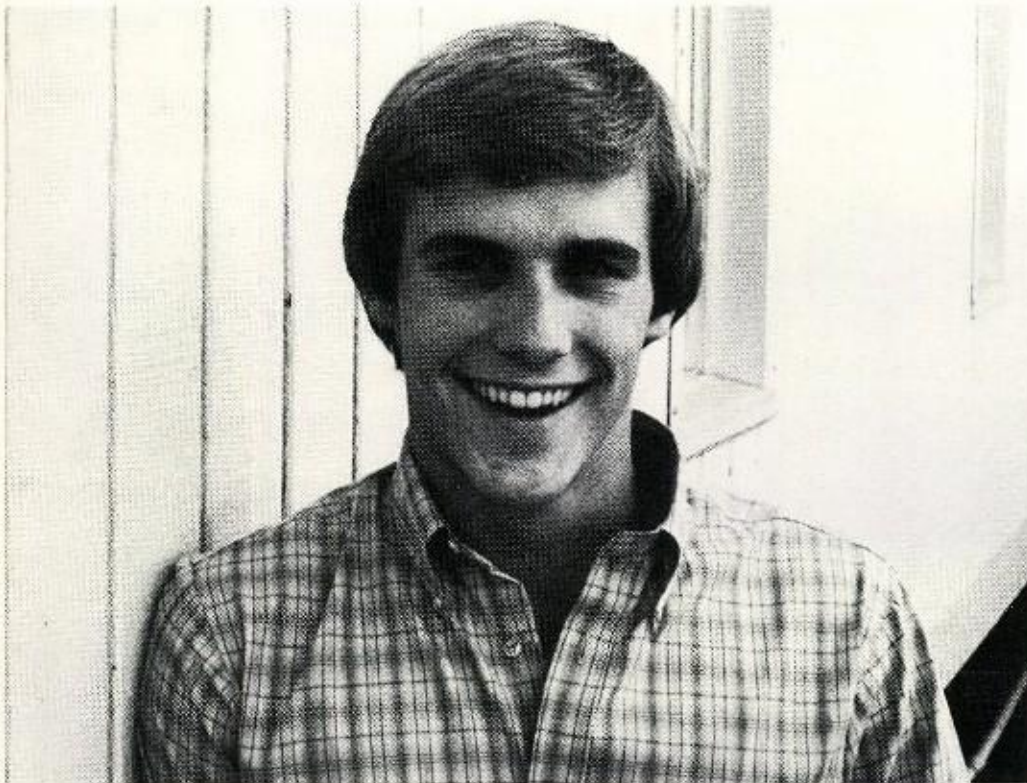

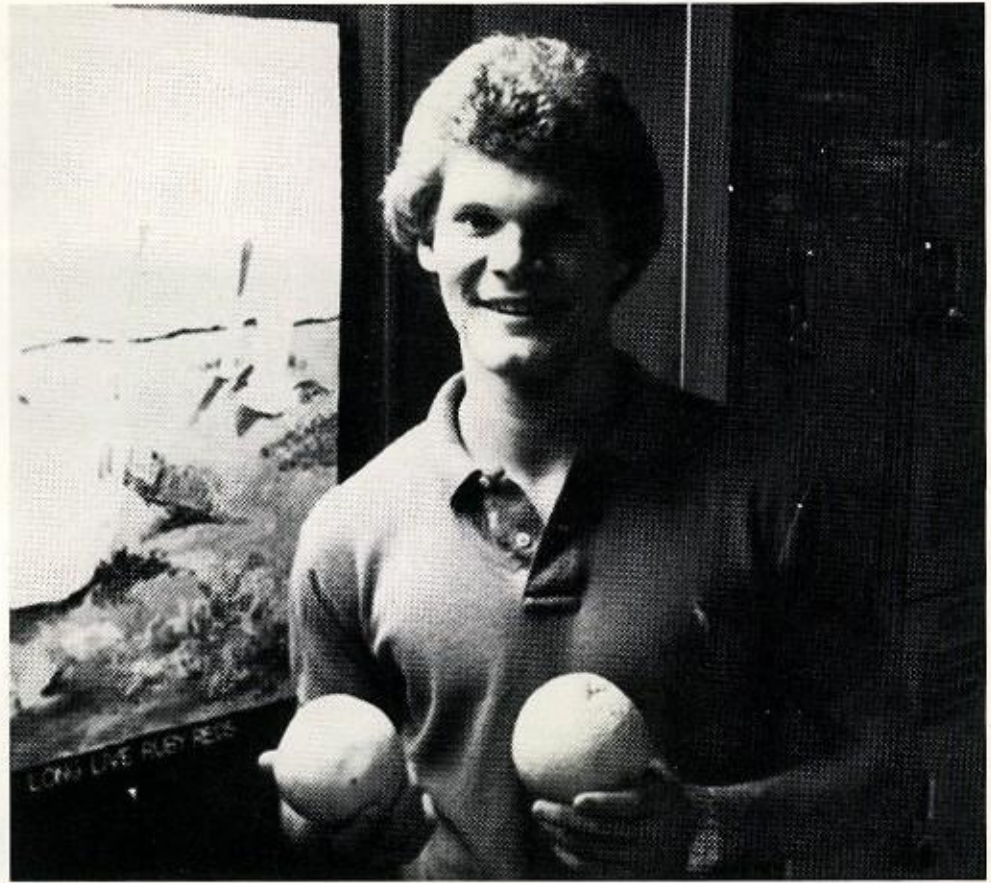

"We can't seem to find the water," say Debra Montgomery, Kay Darrow, Stacy Feeney, and Tricia Dillon.

YOUNG LEADERS

Lee's young leaders were those students who were exceptional in their particular areas of interest. Some were politically inclined; others, academically; still others, vocationally. These dedicated students set examples to be followed by the entire student body.

Presidents Provide Leadership

Devoted students showing outstanding leadership qualities were chosen as presidents of organizations.

As responsible leaders of their respective clubs or societies, these special individuals established goals, organized activities, and successfully led others with enthusiasm, patience, and determination. Proud and devoted, these young organizers of tomorrow guided the student body through a year of true spirit and success.

Upper Left: Drum majors Kim Ivie, Paul Rich, and Darren Kunkel, along with top Lieutenants June Korry and Sherry VanWart, and head cheerleader Robert Best and Anne Moore spark up spirit.

Through many hours of hard work and devotion, students proved to possess exceptional potential in specific areas. Many students earned prestigious titles through the display of superior leadership abilities. Awareness in government, education, and citizenship were considered honorable talents by the Daughters of the American Revolution foundation, sponsors of the Boys' State and Capital Scholar programs, and Bill Archer's "Intern Program." Special awards were given to the winners of the National Council of Teachers of English writing contest and won by students entered in other competitions.

SPORTS

For a great number of Lee's students, athletics became a valuable part of the educational process. Each involved student learned not only to work with dedication toward a goal, but also to cooperate with team members and coaches in the struggle to reach their goals. Sports inspired students to explore their physical, mental, and emotional capacities.

The 1980 Varsity football team finished the season a disappointing 3-7. The Generals faced many difficulties, including lack of experience, new coaches and new offensive and defensive formations. These obstacles proved to be too much for the young Generals to overcome during the course of the season.

Only two seniors started on the defense and as a result, the team lost five of its first six games; but as the inexperienced Generals matured, they bounced back to win their next two games and finish the season strong. Though the season was a rebuilding one, many players received honors. Mark Milstead, Matthew Zander, Martin Arriaga, Tracy Strimble, Phillip Curry and Paul Hostak were chosen to the Second Team All-District offensive squad, while Milstead, Zander, Arriaga, Brad Berry, Joe Yannetti, Jack Gilbert, and John Barzilla were chosen to the Second Team All-District defensive squad.

Honorable Mention was also awarded to Craig Forrester, Mike Moore, and Vance Crosby. The team awards given at the banquet were won by Curry (Most Valuable Lineman), Arriaga (Most Valuable Back), Berry (R.B.I. Award), Zander (Arm Chair General Award) and Richard Luna (Scholastic Award). 79

Cagers Suffer Through Transitional Season

The 1981 Varsity Basketball team was led into the season by two year lettermen Shannon Killman, Raja Nasir and Paul Craig while seniors Keith Forrester, James Felder and Wade Simon along with a flock of juniors rounded a very young Generals team.

With a newly acquired coach from Reagan High School and a new program, the team under Coach Lee Tynes ended up with a record of 4-29 throughout the regular season and a 2-10 mark in district. The Generals had an inexperienced team with only one returning starter and needed to rely on the leadership of the other seniors. The cagers fought hard through the year but inexperience proved to be too much to overcome over the course of the season.

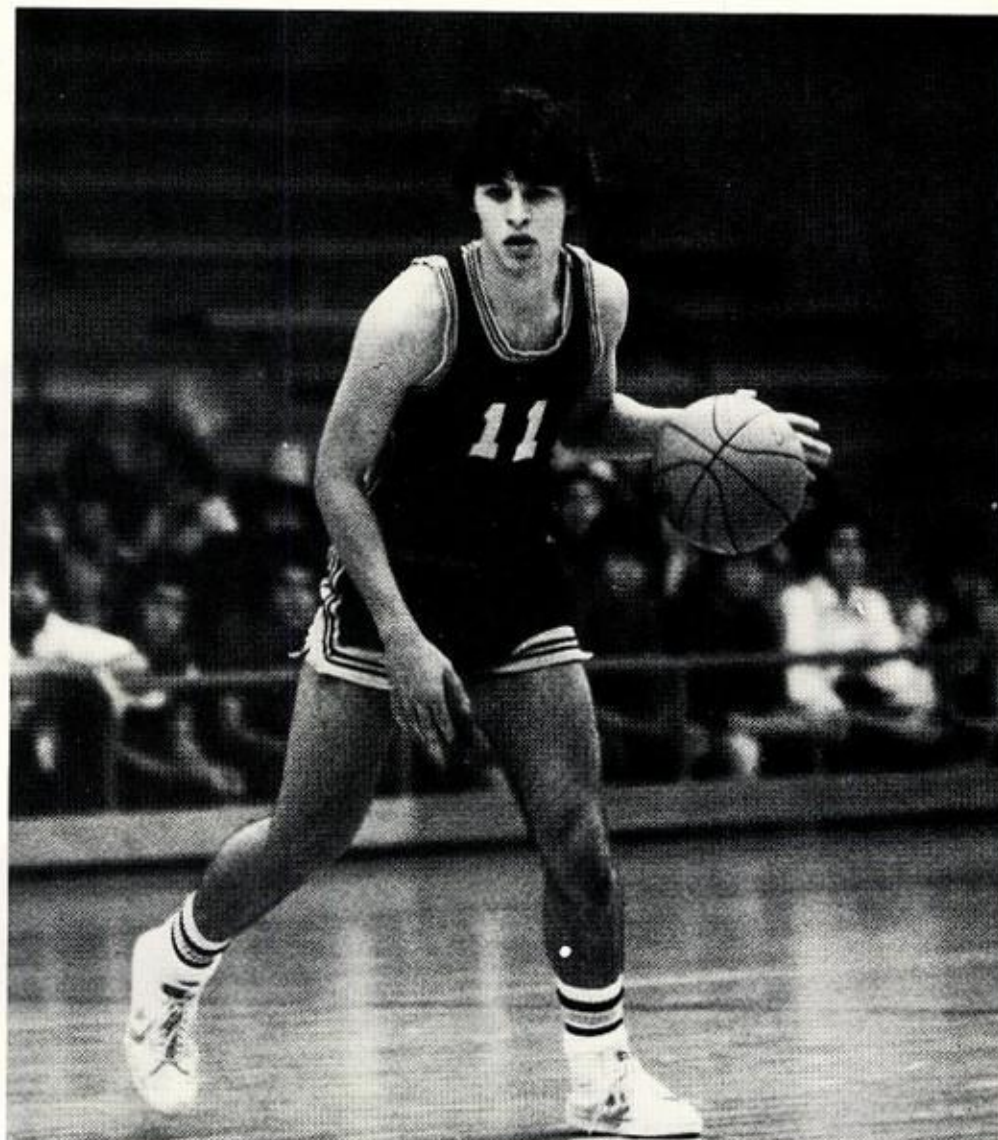

At the end of the campaign, the leading scorer and rebounder was Killman with 520 points and 330 rebounds; Prior was second in scoring with 325.

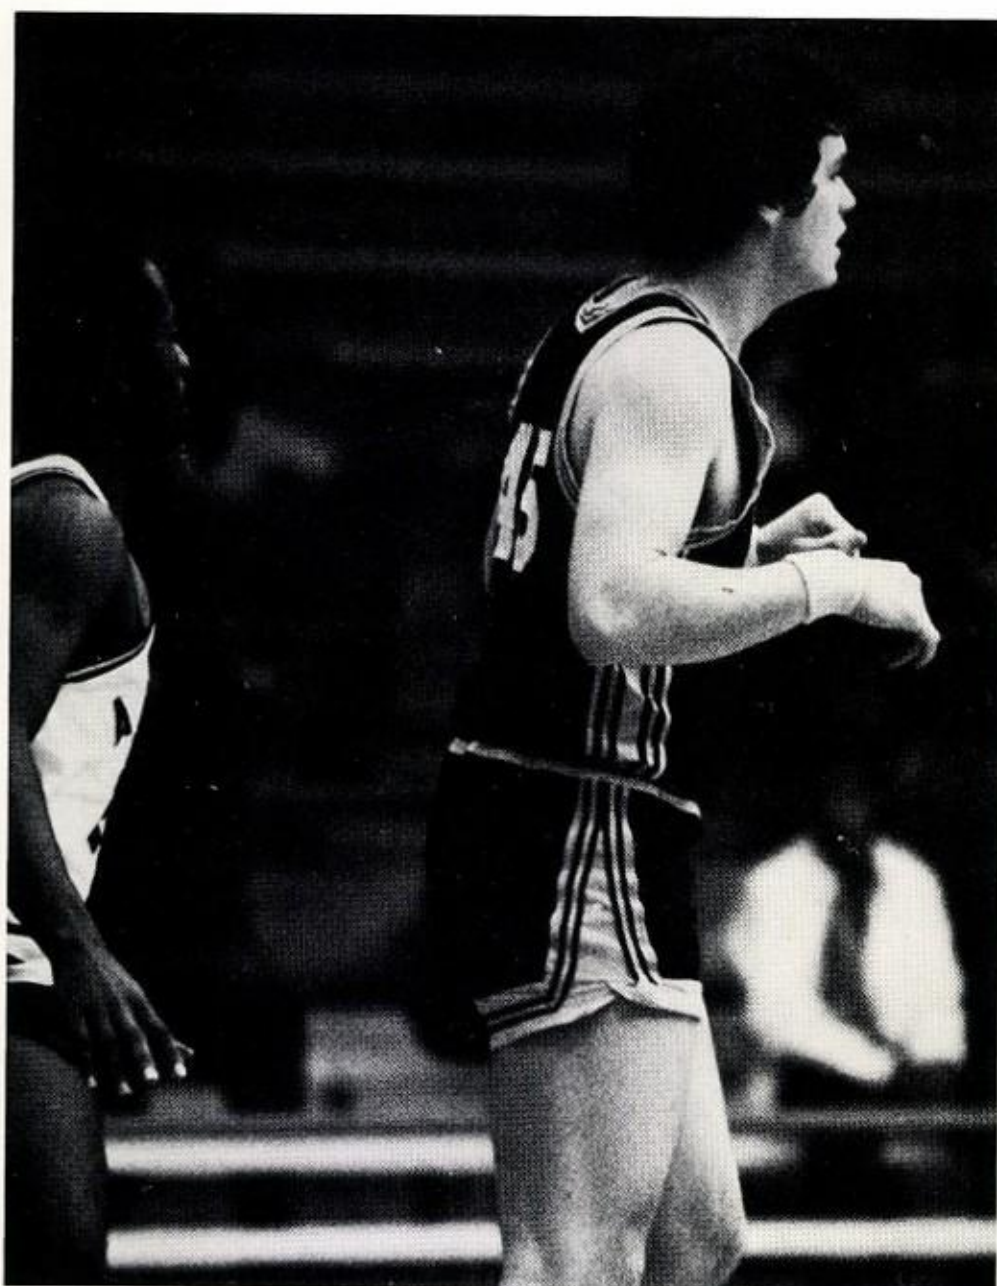

Coach Tynes plans out the strategy during a time out.

This year's Varsity Baseball team was led by 3 year letterman Mark Milstead and Keith Karnoski, All-City 2 year letterman Les Kilday and All-City transfer Barry Nicholson. Coach Mark Stevens had high hopes the team would win with excellent pitching and good but unproven hitting, but as the season progressed, the hitting was not to be, as the team average slumped to .200.

The team never really came together even though it had a 12-4 pre-district record. It would win in spurts, but could never string a bunch together. In District, the team was 4-3 at deadline time, losing the three games by only 4 runs.

Pitchers were Kilday, Nicholson, Jim Bales, and Steve Crocombe with Milstead behind the plate. Joe Barzilla was at first and Jerry Hammond and Jimmy Bailey at second, Nicholson and Mike Cook at shortstop, Lewis Brazelton at third. In the outfield Ted Horbelt, David Cook in left, Barret Rouse, Ron Moody, Karnoski in center with Johnny Barzilla and Mike Seaman in right.

This year's Varsity Track team was anchored by the distance runners. Led by Larry Kachadorian (two-miles) and Levi Bailey (880 yard run), the team finished strong in almost all of its pre-district meets. In the District meet, Kachadorian once again proved his superiority by winning the two-mile run in a record-setting time. Bailey placed a very impressive third in the 880, and junior newcomer Gus Raskosky finished third in the mile run. Other top finishers were Craig Forrester, coming in second in the pole vault, and Stace Alfstad, finishing fourth in the high jump.

The doubles team of Matt Clemens and Scott Biggerstaff also placed second in District to qualify for Regionals.

Mrs. Ella Allen, coach, felt Lee would have a good chance in Regional play.

Girls Volley to Victory

The 1980 Volleyball team, coached by Miss Carole Hornsby, had an extremely outstanding season this year. The team was young, consisting of juniors and only three seniors. They exhibited great skill and extreme enthusiasm during the pre-district and district games. Susan Adams and Amy Love were chosen as 1st team district and Anne Jasper 2nd team. The team maintained a great amount of determination and desire to win district, but ran a close race, coming in 2nd. The team rounded off its season in the district playoffs in a tough and close match against Madison. The team gained much pride for themselves and their team during the 1980 season.

The Junior Varsity Volleyball team of 1980 not only won the district title but also swept away with the city championship. The team completed its victorious season undefeated. Coached by Miss Linda Hill, the team displayed a great amount of determination and ability which resulted in the highly successful season. This ability the team has gained will make future years very promising for volleyball.

Young Team Has Steam

The Girl's Basketball Team accomplished a great amount of success in its second season. The team's tremendous efforts resulted in an exciting and successful season. The Varsity Basketball Team was coached by Jane Borneman. There were three returning lettermen from last year's Varsity Team: Ann Andersson, Linda Dowell and Linda Roberts. The team had tough competition against Madison but held a great position throughout the season in district play. The team has performed excellently during the two year period the team has existed.

Tracksters Strive for Victory

The girls' track team, with the help of Coach Bennett, had an outstanding season. With much hard work and determination, the overall team placed 4th in district, and sent a hurdler and a relay team onto regionals. Allison Garner ran the hurdles while Mary Jane Paulin, Boo Davee, Michelle Hadley and Janice Gatlin ran the relay.

Cross Country Runs to Region

Running those long aching miles every day, the Girls' Cross Country team was determined to go all the way. Miss Janie Borneman coached the team as they ran daily in Memorial Park with pure determination, clinching district and proceeding to compete well in regional competition.

Kim Morisak performed outstandingly in district as well as Brenda Wall with the others keeping up the enthusiasm. The Girls' Cross Country finished the season with a great amount of pride and satisfaction.

Swimmers Stroke With Experience

Lee took three places in Regional swimming before going on to State. Julie Steffes, a junior, took first in the 100 yard breaststroke. Heather Maclay, sophomore, took first in one meter diving.

Susan Nolen, freshman, set a new record in the 500 yard freestyle and also placed second in the 100 yard breaststroke, an unusual feat.

Girls Take Two Firsts

"If they make it through Regional play, they'll take State," stated Mrs. Ella Allen, Girls' tennis coach, after District play.

And jubilant she should have been as Nam Le raced to first place in singles in District and the doubles team of Lisa and Renee Tamborello brought home the first place trophy, too.

It was impossible to cover Regional play because of deadlines, but Nam Le and the Tamborellos are to be congratulated on their fine record in '81.

Determination and hard work proved to be all the J.V. volleyball team needed to bring home the first place trophies in City for Lee and their coach, Miss Linda Hill.

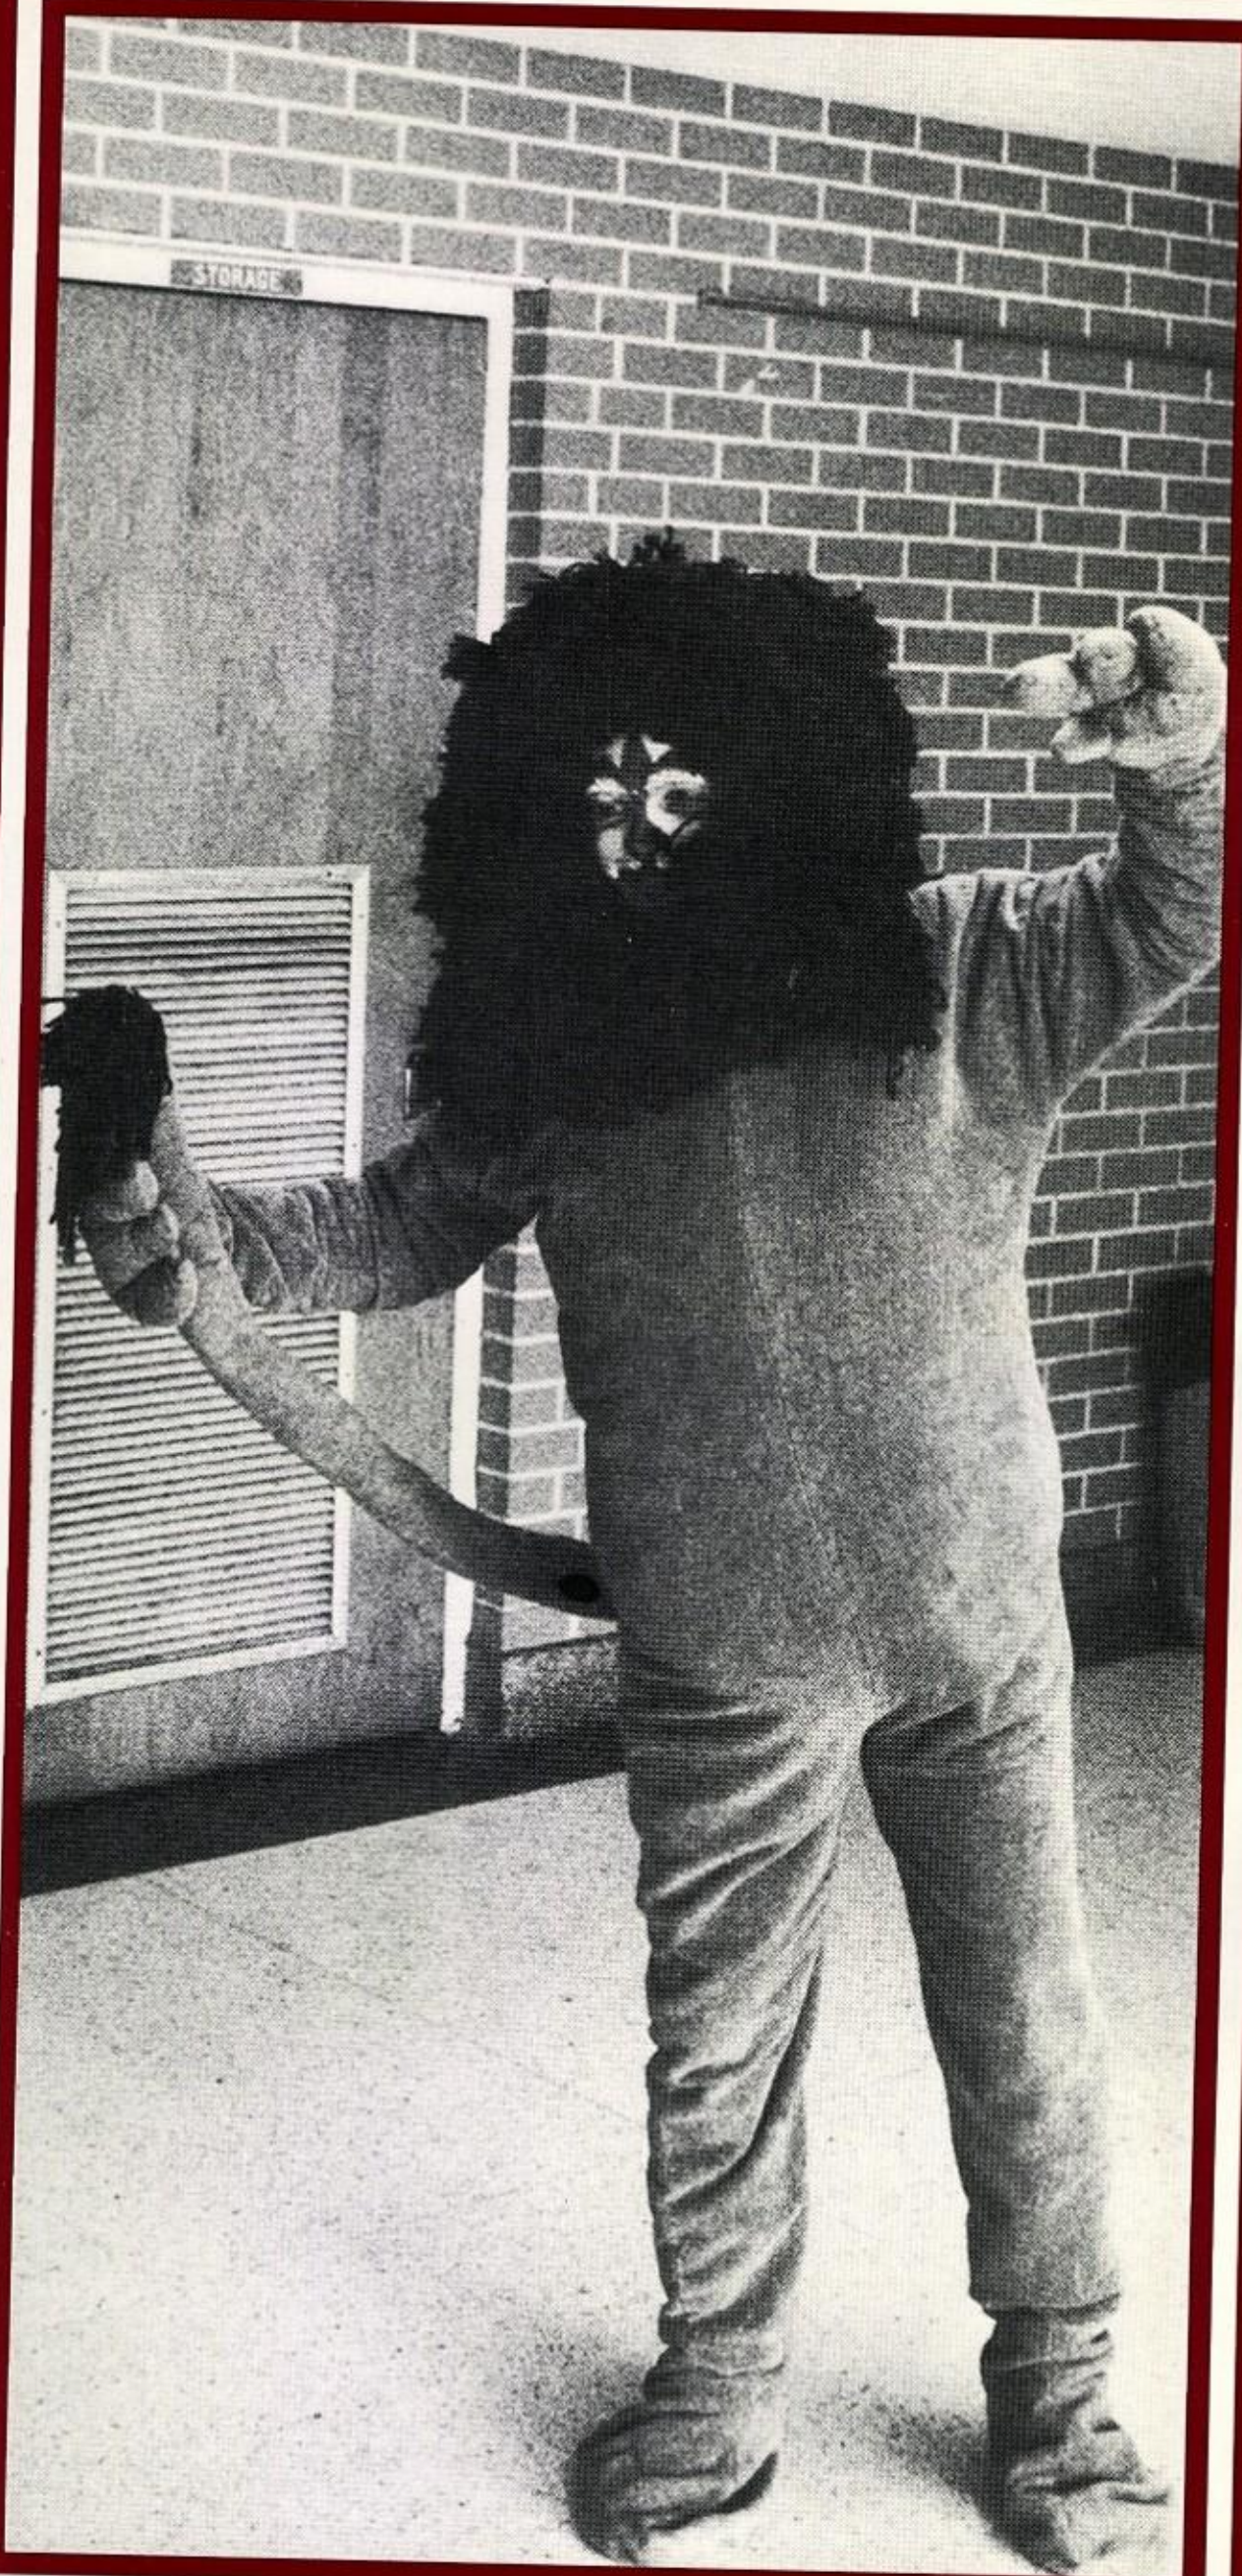

The J.V. basketball team and their coach, Miss Jeanne Reynaud, were not that successful, but they showed great improvement over the season and will be the nucleus of varsity next year.

Faculty

The greatest number of new teachers in Lee's history was added to the faculty because of the new freshman class. These teachers did an admirable job of adjusting and soon became an integral part of Lee.

The relationship between students and faculty at Lee was marked not only by an exchange of knowledge, but also by an exchange of friendship. Teachers made an indelible impression on the lives of the students.

Portrait of a Principal

Lee's principal, Mr. Larry Bergen, was responsible for the countless wise decisions which kept Lee running smoothly throughout the year. He was interested in all activities and was available if any problem arose.

The arrival of the freshman class to Lee necessitated many changes. Mr. Bergen provided Lee with additional teachers, class accommodations and parking spaces. Although Lee had become a bigger school in many ways, Mr. Bergen had firm control and calm assurance which not only kept the school running smoothly but also maintained high academic achievement of previous years.

Necessary in assisting Mr. Bergen with general administration were the assistant principals, Mrs. Mary Carolyn Smith, Mr. William Cook, Mr. Lucious Randle and Mr. Fred Skains. Their daily routines and assistance to Mr. Bergen were a vital role in the operation of Lee.

Mrs. Smith, junior class principal, had a busy daily schedule with her job of issuing textbooks, approving posters and planning Open House. Mr. Cook was busy with the responsibility of maintaining order among seniors and keeping a school inventory. Mr. Randle had the job of disciplining the sophomore class, managing bus transportation and maintaining the school grounds and building. Mr. Skains was responsible for disciplining the new freshman class.

Through the efforts of these four assistant principals, Lee was provided with the guidance necessary to keep the school running smoothly.

English Provides Potential

To help the students develop Language skills and to improve their achievement in Language Arts were the main purposes of the English classes at Lee. As the new head of the English department, Mrs. Sharon Nickel came to Lee concentrating on basic skills such as reading, writing, and grammar.

Students concentrated on many basic skills of English using their imagination and creativity. New courses such as basic reading and reading development were offered to the Freshman class at Lee. Once again many students participated in major works classes and CVAE programs. The clubs and activities related to the department included FTA, Book Fair, UIL Literary Competition, and the Society for the Advancement of the Arts.

Math Adds Up

Teaching the basic math skills needed by each and every student was the Math department's primary goal. By creating a better understanding of math and the manner in which it relates to the world, teachers hoped to show students the increasing importance of math in today's society.

Along with the basics needed for a strong academic program, electives including Trigonometry, Calculus, and Computer Math were offered to students interested in more specific math fields.

Mrs. Thera Yoes, Math department chairman, sponsored Mu Alpha Theta, a club organized for the purpose of encouraging students to become well informed of the role mathematics will play in the future.

History Gets Old

Students of the Government and Economics classes were presented an overview of government and economics as they relate to citizenship and earning a living.

Because of the presidential election, many of the classes concentrated on issues concerning functions of our government. Such courses as American History, Government, Economics, Sociology, and Psychology were offered to the students.

The Young Conservatives of Texas and the Texas History Club offered activities for the pupils who were interested in the election campaign. The Law Club gave students an overview of our general court system.

Scientists Collect Data

As advances are made in the scientific world, the role of teachers in the Science department becomes increasingly more important. Teachers aimed to encourage students to open their eyes to life's neverending phenomena. Under the direction of Mr. Howard Behrens, teachers hoped to develop within students an awareness of the many scientific fields open to them.

Students were offered classes ranging from the study of marine life to the understanding of the complexity of chemistry. A new course, geology, was introduced to those interested in the study of rocks and minerals.

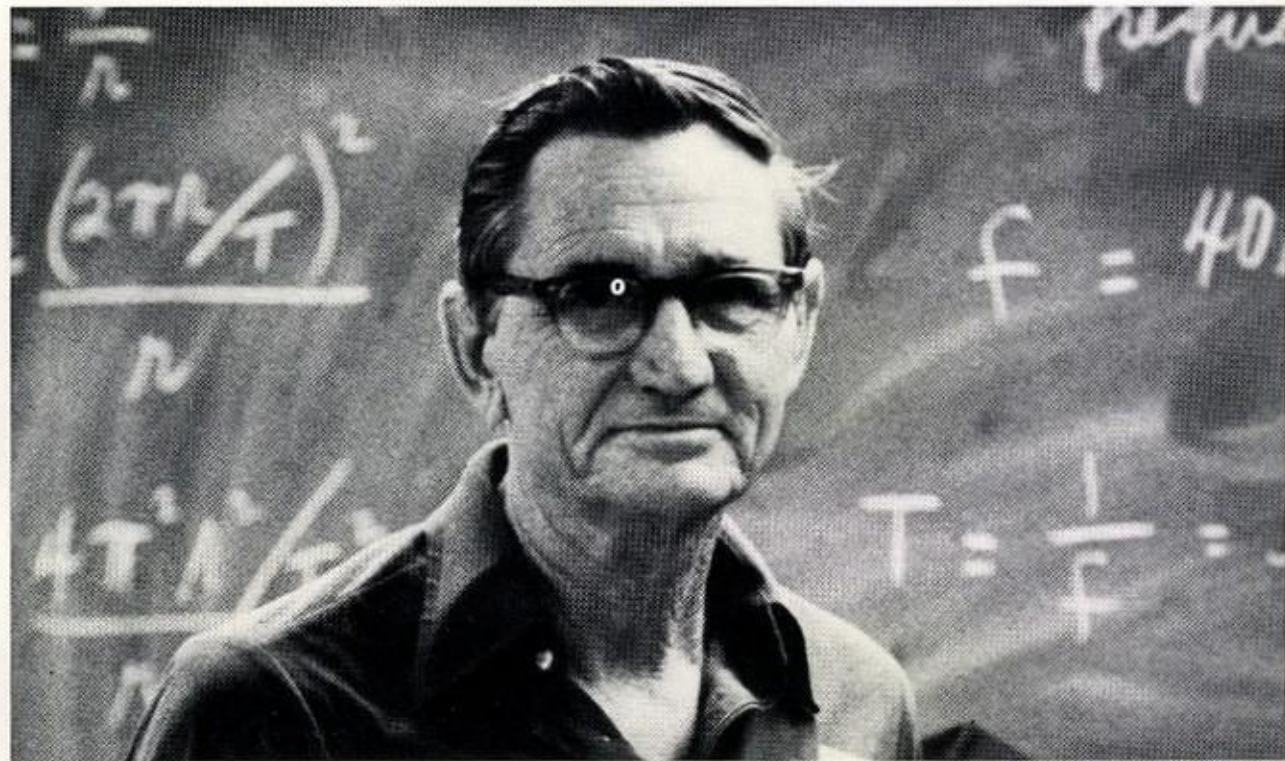

The Science Club and Junior Engineering Technical Society (JETS) were organizations open to students wishing to participate in extra-curricular science-oriented subjects.

Artists Create Masterpieces

Creativity and the development of skills were the backbone of the Art department. It stressed the importance of the students' artistic talent and inspired them to perfect their skills and to become aware of their surroundings.

Mr. Henri Gadbois, head of the Art department, trained those interested in drawing, painting, and sculpture. He also instructed third year Art students in photography and animated movies. Miss Linda Shuler taught students with dramatic ability and encouraged them to perform in the Razz-M-Tazz program. Students displaying outstanding writing abilities became members of the yearbook or newspaper staffs. Mr. Rod Nichols directed his students in the development of speech and debate through oral, written, and dramatic expression.

The Band and choral groups at Lee gave the students a chance to develop their musical interests and provided entertainment for the student body.

Learning the Lingo

The Department of Foreign Language offered an opportunity for students to increase their communication ability. Headed by Mr. Marshall York, this department provided for the study of a variety of languages including Spanish, French, German, and Latin.

Beside these courses offered, Conversational Spanish existed for those interested in improving their skills in spoken Spanish. The Spanish Club, Les Fleur de Lee, and the German Club encouraged many students to become involved in further studies of foreign countries and customs. Also membership in the Spanish National Honor Society and the Latin Honor Society was available to those especially talented. For students interested in traveling abroad, the American Field Service assisted in making this possible.

Support the Athletes

The Department of Physical Education provided activities to boost every student in his own physical activities and skills. Mrs. Ella Allen and Mr. Dell Brown, heads of the department, directed sports such as volleyball, softball, basketball, tennis, archery, badminton, bowling, and golf.

Training students to be responsible and experienced members of ROTC, Ltd. Arthur Butcher prepared his students for possible military careers.

Students Obtain Skills

The Business education department encouraged the students to gain knowledge and experience in business through on-the-job training. This department, headed by Mrs. Sandra Meyer, provided courses in Typing, Shorthand, Accounting, Business Management and Ownership, Pre-Employment Lab, Business Law, and Office Education Coop.

An assortment of cooperative work programs were available for those students desiring to enlarge their knowledge of the business world. These work programs included VOE, DE, ICT, and HECE, which gave students an opportunity to go to class half a day and work the other half.

Students interested in working with livestock and plant life were involved in the Vocational Agriculture department under the leadership of Mr. Roy Sheffield. Students trained themselves for future careers in farming, and entered their projects in several county fairs. The FFA hosted the annual Ag show in the spring.

The Industrial Arts department, directed by Mr. Clark Young, gave students the chance to develop their skills in Woodshop, Metal Shop, and Drafting.

Organizations

Membership in Lee's numerous organizations was an important part of many students' lives. Clubs gave students the opportunity to unite with other students having similar interests, whether in drama, politics, language, or community service. In exchange for the time and effort they devoted, students gained experience, knowledge, and friendships.

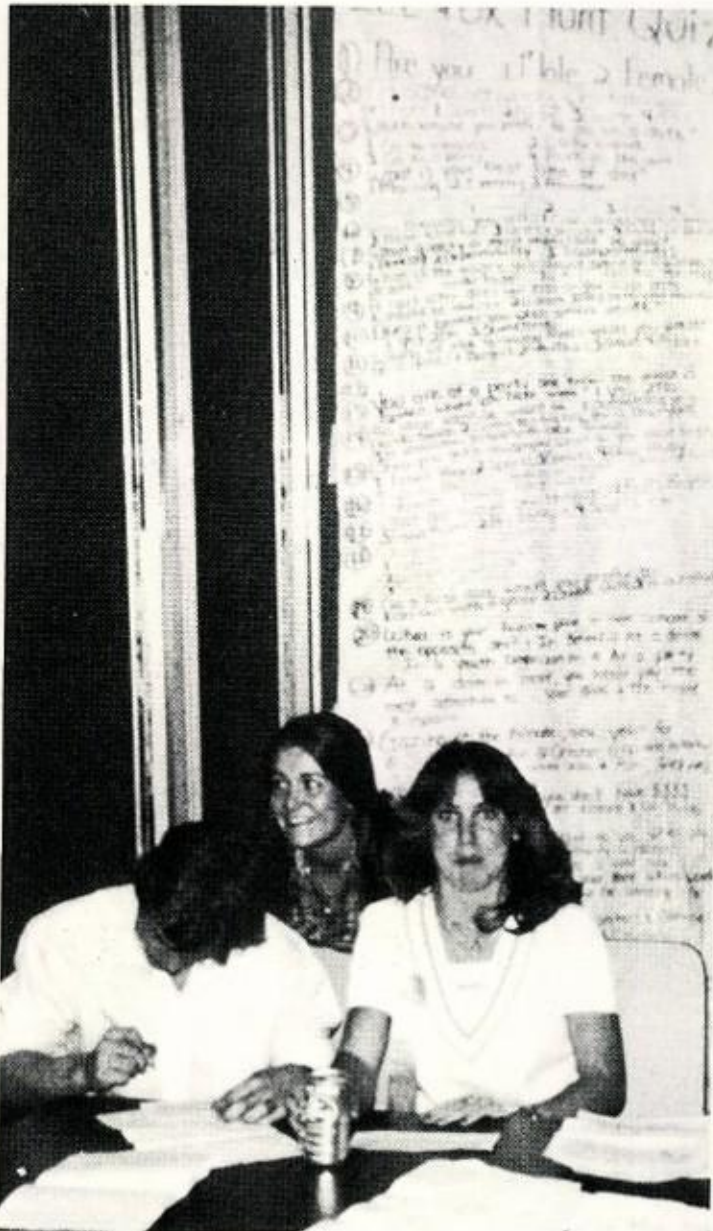

Council Cleans It Up

Working hard to serve the students and the faculty, the Student Council, under the guidance of Mr. Joe Hayes, contributed to the betterment of the school. Each member had to maintain a 2.6 grade average and at least a "G" average in conduct. With the addition of the freshmen, this year's membership was increased to ninety. Meetings were held every other Thursday morning before school. A Student Council period, four appointed officers, and a scrapbook were added to the organization this year.

To raise funds, representatives sold candy, worked at a Gulf Gas Station, and supplied a dating service — "The Great Lee Fox Hunt" — for Lee students.

The Student Council float — "Jam the Berries" — won Most Beautiful Float award in the Homecoming Parade.

As Nancy Higginbotham spies a new customer, Jane Jordan tries to control herself after reading Brad Lindig's responses to the Fox Hunt Quiz.

Officers: Clare Donnelly, Secretary; Anne Moore, Treasurer; Lissy Perryman, Vice President; Nancy Higginbotham, President.

"Gee, Lissy, if I had known you were going to glue my markers' caps on, I wouldn't have let you use them!" scolds Mr. Hayes to Lissy Perryman, while Debbie Daniels and Blake Buie look on.

The money was used to rent a "sweeper" for cleaning the parking lots, to carpet the library, and to paint the stairwells, the bathrooms, and the lunchroom.

The Student Council sponsored two state-wide safety programs, "Drinking and Driving" and "The Legal Responsibility of Being 18." For community service projects, Council members delivered Thanksgiving Baskets to needy families and held an Easter Party for orphans. Various field trips for the council included District and State Student Council Conferences, HISD School Board Meetings, and Raps with Reagan. Activities for the year ranged from running student elections to appreciating the teachers. The council also had two or three Clean-Ups a month, arranged special days like 50's Day and Rodeo Day, and organized the Homecoming Parade. There is no space to explain what they tried to do for the parking situation.

In accordance with its most successful year, members of the Quill and Scroll club opened up a number of projects in service to the school and community.

Seniors attended a conference in San Antonio, bringing home outstanding prizes in such journalistic categories as spirit and destruction. Members also received high acclaim for their rendition of Erwin Allen's "Is There Life After High School?" and participated in the first annual (AC) DC Phillips celebrity roast at the Lee-Lamar basketball game.

In honor of the Q&S sponsor, Mrs. Tiny Wisdom, a new refrigerator was purchased bearing the inscription "Wiz's Frigidaire" and it was used to house refreshments for the needy.

Other projects included extermination of rodents in the school kitchen and rigorous support of the "Wiz for Pres" campaign.

Miss Piggy, designated as the Q&S mascot, announced the spring field trip taken to the King Ranch and the annual banquet held at the Poor Man's Country Club.

"How can you resist our luscious lips?" wonder seductive seniors Annette Harris and Leah Benson.

SABER Takes It to the Hilt!

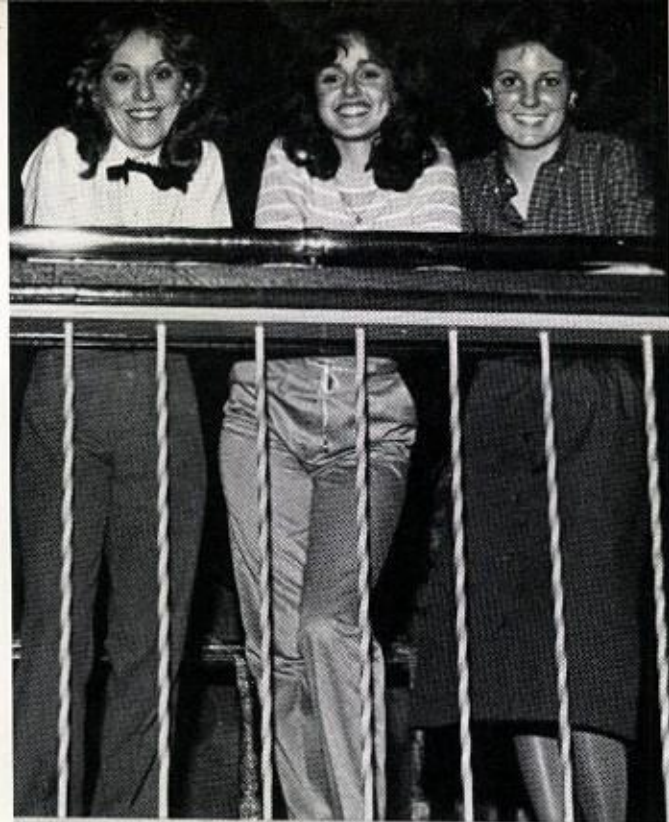

"ALL RIGHT Y'ALL, this deadline I want your pages in ON TIME!" was the dreaded cry of our editor, Annette Harris. Along with Mom Wiz's "This deadline is right on us!" this cry inspired the 1981 SABER staff to perform with their best.

To gain the knowledge of how to put together the best yearbook, senior staffers attended a journalism conference in San Antonio. Posing as students from Natural High School, they received more attention than necessary, especially from hotel management and friendly BMF's. While spending time on the river, Shannon, Bill, and Gardner discovered that three on a paddle boat could be quite a sinking experience. The staff made friends with celebrities Bongo Joe and Dirty Nelly for whom they will always have a place in their heart. Staffers returned to Houston only to face the first deadline.

Clare found out what a hassle pictures can really be while Susan and her staff looked for ways to develop dirty layouts. Upset with all the work, Doug found a way to throw it out the window. Jeff was sorry he had ever gotten in his way. As the year progressed Gwen took on the role of "ministering angel" and Patricia was known as Mother Goose to her little chicks.

When it comes to SABER, Lori Kelly (Sophomores) and Caroline Cummings (Juniors) don't clown around.

Patricia Cabaniss (Clubs), Leah Benson (Young Leaders and Activities), and Clare Donnelly (Faculty) bridge the gap between students and teachers.

Anne Cummings, David Marion, Kim Whittington, Julia Suffield (Gopher), Sandra Ernst, and Ellen Baumgardner (Gopher) find the animals at the circus more tolerable than those in T-2.

Convicted staffers Teresa Weidler, Ria Butler, Ben Perryman, Jane Cooksey, and Jo Anna Meyer suffer the consequences of their faulty grammar, sucking cropping, stinking cutlines, and rotten copy.

Annette Harris (Editor-in-Chief), capable of handling anything that comes her way, appreciates the helping hand of Gardner Landry (Asst. Editor).

Shannon Killman, Jennifer Johnson (Photographer), Gwen King (Favorites), Nancy Bergen (Seniors), and Jeff Longwell (Business Manager and Activities) show just how easy it is to stay on top of things.

Kenny Womack and James Parnell know that their name could be mud if their SABER responsibilities aren't met.

Lisa Turner (Index), Doug Bailey (Circulation Manager), Charlotte Loeffler (Senior Honors), and Bill Workman (Ads) are caught trying to escape the pressures of deadlines.

Hard workers Kevin Gilliland and Jeff Paine find they need extra support after grueling deadlines.

Class editor Susan Solcher (Freshman) finds something more satisfying than getting her picture made with the rest of the club.

Dependable and dedicated Darcy Davis diligently does her duty.

Brad Berry and Les Kilday (Boys' Sports) find the challenge of sports nice while Darby Wilson (Girls' Sports) escapes to Sportman's Paradise.

Between deadlines activity slowed down. Les could usually be found throwing various foreign objects in the windows of his most loved teacher. All this time Leah was striving to improve her cheerleading skills.

Through the dauntless leadership of Nancy, Caroline, and Lori, the class sections were completed. Lisa, Charlotte, and Brad were included in staff activities on those rare occasions when they came to class. Darby was famous for not being around when she was needed and Mom Wiz is still in New Orleans looking for her.

After March, staffers took a senior trip to the Kings' ranch, celebrated Open Shack, and ended the year with the banquet, when new staff positions were announced and the '81 SABERS were revealed. In spite of the tears, trials, and tribulations, the crew from T-2 once again managed to publish the greatest yearbook around.

Stop the Press!

A Lee institution since 1962, the Traveler once again told all twice monthly. The smallest staff in the paper's history struggled mightily to provide the school's students with all the news, features, and sports that were fit to print.

Mrs. Regina Block and her co-editors, Carrie Pickering and Ron Stone, led the depleted staff in its attempts to cover the various happenings in the school administration, the many clubs, and all sports. In addition, the feature staff reviewed several movies, restaurants, and records, and reported on the fashions and trends of the year.

The Traveler staff held its annual banquet in May, when the staff positions for next year were announced. Later, the staff celebrated the end of its prosperous year with a big bash.

Lee Anchors Float on Top

The Anchor Club, led by Miss Sandra Malicote, was a girls organization which promoted academic excellence and provided service to the school as well as to the community. The work began during the summer with the sponsorship of the sophomore and freshman orientations. The group of about fifty girls met regularly on every other Monday morning. In the fall, the club served the community by assisting with HISD's kindergarten screening, working in the March of Dimes haunted house, aiding with Special Olympics, donating Seaman Center boxes at the Port of Houston, and sharing a Thanksgiving basket with a needy family. In November, Karen Kehr represented Lee's Anchor Club at a national convention in Pennsylvania.

"You mean to tell me the Anchor Club is a service organization and not a boating club!" exclaims a dressed-for-the-occasion Lisa Eoff.

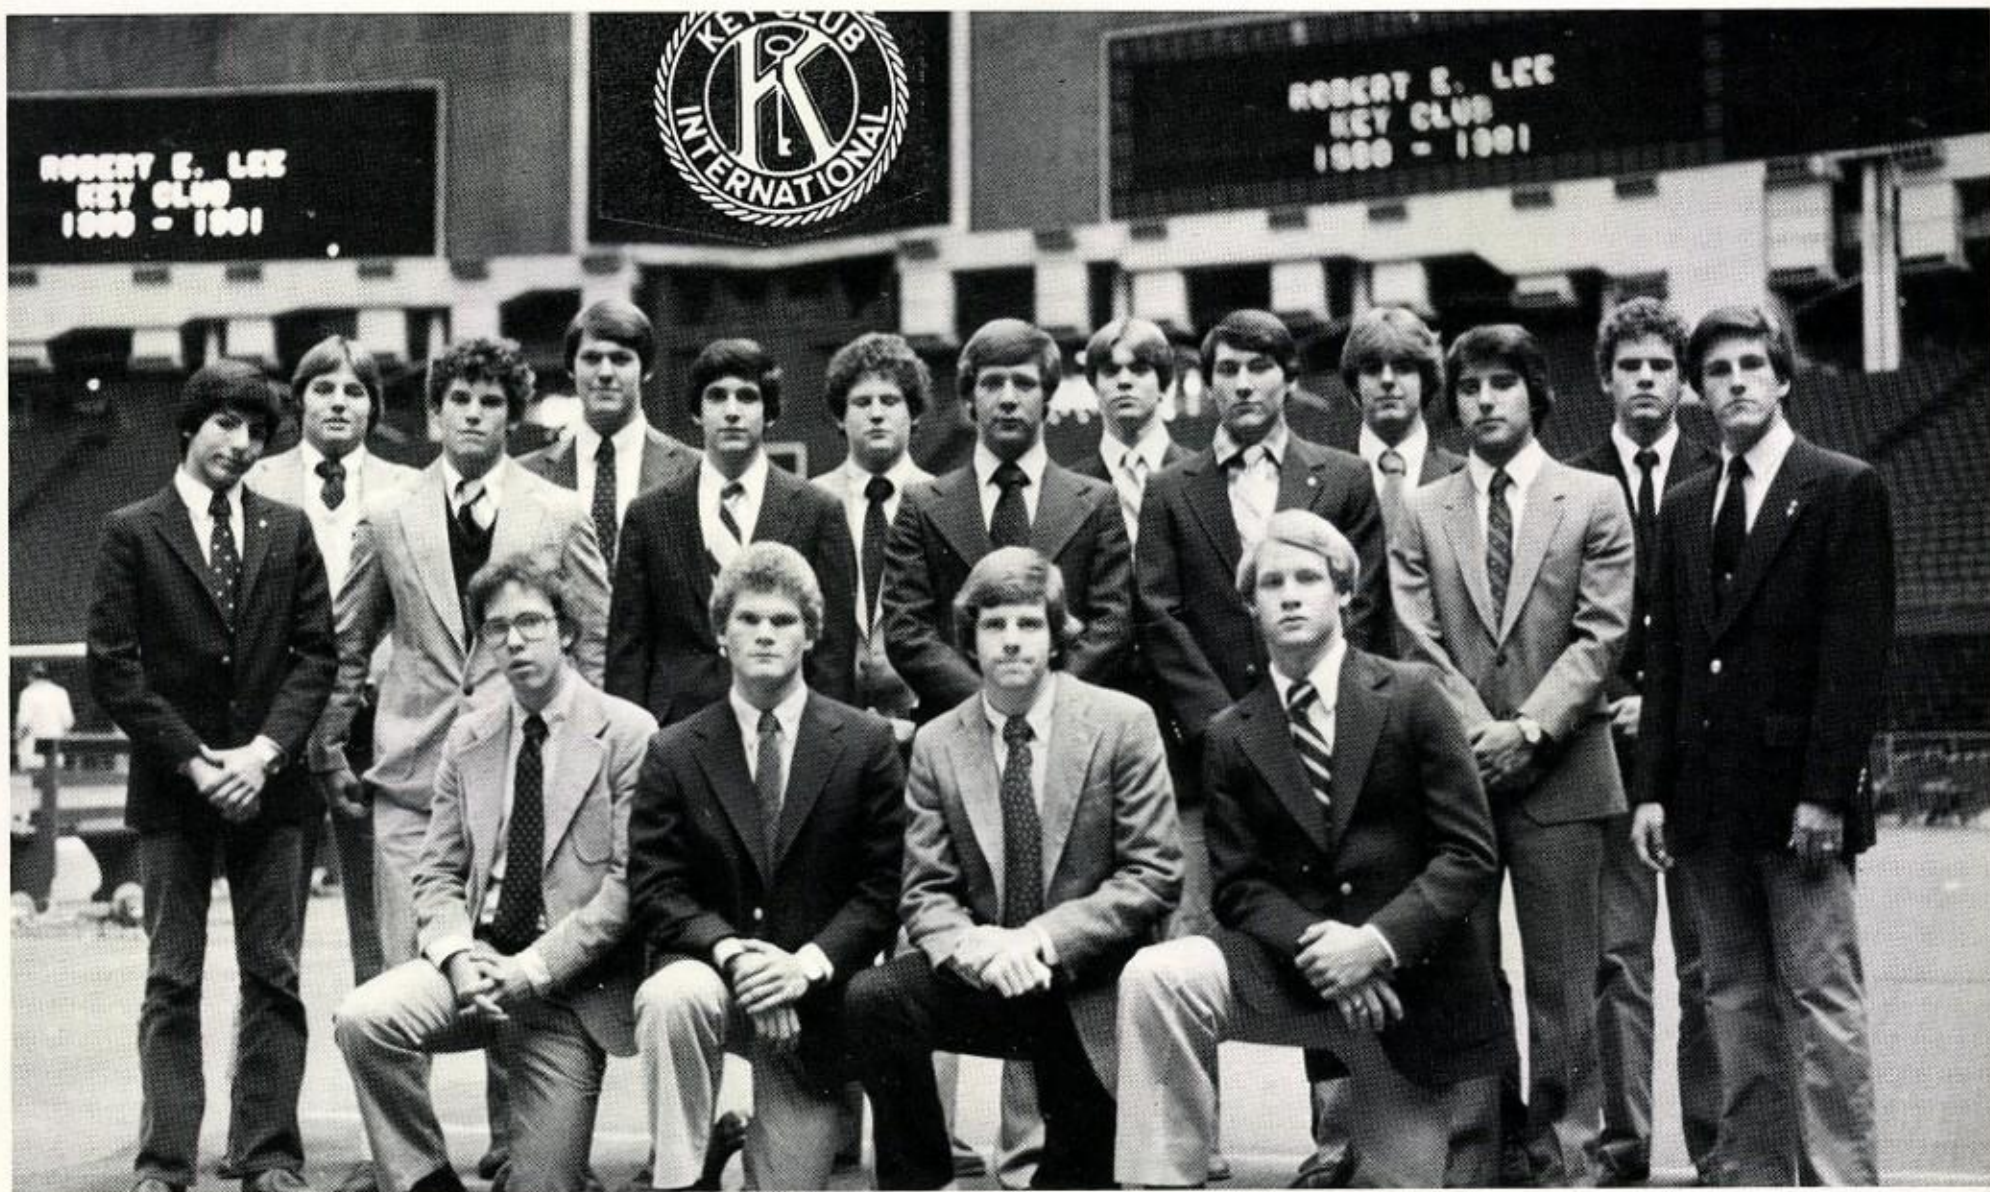

In December, this club sponsored the Christmas door decorating contest. To finance their activities, the girls sold spook suckers and Christmas greenery.

The second semester began with a celebration of George Washington's birthday at Blalock Nursing Home. Along with Key Club, the group sponsored Career Day for students at Lee. In April, the girls helped with Easter Seals and presented a play for a local elementary school. In the Spring the girls had a progressive dinner with Key Club and closed the year with a banquet.

A goal of the Anchor Club was to get more involved with its national sponsor, Pilot International by meeting with one of its representatives and attending a Pilot barbecue. As a new activity, each member had a secret locker buddy and on special occasions certain surprises of food and fun could be found in their school lockers.

Key Club DOMEinates

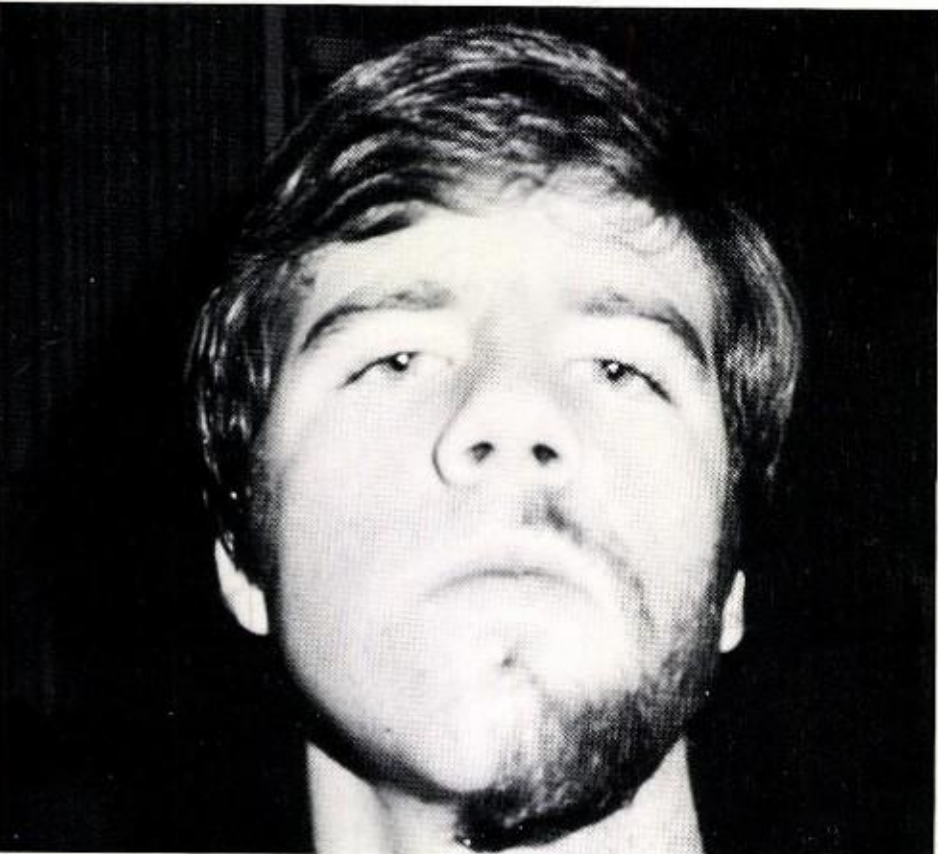

With the utmost care in mind, Key Club members set their sights on service to their school and community. Under the supervision of Henri Gadbois, Key Clubbers united to work on activities including Career Day, College Night, and Ripley House Christmas party. Members also participated in the March of Dimes Haunted House, Blood Day, a canned food drive for the needy, and they assisted residents at Treemont, Bayou Glen, and M. D. Anderson Hospital.

The forty-five member club, consisting of sophomores, juniors, and seniors, amassed funds by selling delicious Ruby Red grapefruit.

Key Club also helped organize the Alumni garden and attended fall and spring training conferences in the Texas-Oklahoma District Convention in Fort Worth.

Barrett Rouse, David King and Bobby Pruitt find Ruby Red grapefruit doesn't always carry its own weight.

While in obvious wonder over this strange phenomenon, Gardner Landry attributes his incomplete facial growth to selfish genes.

While striking his most masculine pose, Weird Harold Vance can't deny that his boop-d-boop curls betray his true nature.

Interact Endeavors to Serve

Officers: Mark Milstead, Secretary; Jeff Longwell, President; Brad Berry, Treasurer; Philip Curry, Vice President.

Through their constant rendering of services, Interact members upheld their high standards. The main projects for the group were those at Grady Special School. They performed maintenance jobs such as painting and repairs, and gave parties for the handicapped students, among other things. Meeting on the first Monday of each month, the club was under the sponsorship of Mr. Charles Gomez. Interact offered a balance between hard work and fun for the students desiring both.

"We're just standing on the corner watching all the girls go by," chant Rob Adams, Joe Barzilla, and Brad Berry.

"Stand back everyone!" threatens Andy Fickman, as he, Andy Osborne and Tom Davis prepare once and for all to overcome their image as general garbage.

Students Attain Goals

Among high school students at Lee, a select few earned the right to become members of the National Honor Society. Mrs. Stephanie Forbes and Mrs. Lotus Hoey, sponsors of the Lee chapter of the NHS, led their scholastically inclined students to attain the highest honors at Lee. The ninety members of this acclaimed group of students provided a tutorial service to troubled students. Dues collected from members were used for the induction ceremony for incoming members in April.

Lieutenants

Lead Enthusiasm

1980-81 Lieutenant Officers: Left to Right: Rebecca Garza, 2 Star General; Sandra Rabke, 3 Star General; Stacy Feeney, 1 Star General; Sherry Van Wart, 4 Star General; June Korry, 5 Star General; Karen Maness, 1 Star General.

"What do you mean, your team can beat us?" question the Lieutenants.

Showing loyalty to all school activities, the Lieutenants boosted the morale of the teams and fans. Their half-time entertainment added extra enjoyment to football games. The Lieutenants also attended basketball, volleyball, and baseball games. Preparation for the routines to be used during the football season began at summer camp which was held at the University of Houston. To maintain the precision needed, the girls also attended summer drill which lasted for two weeks. They continued to practice throughout the season in their sixth period class.

The Lieutenants sold Christmas cards, wrapping paper, candy, Valentine carnations, and directories to raise money. This money was then used to help finance a ski trip for the seniors to Winter Park, the Mother/Daughter Christmas Banquet, and the annual Rebelee Ball. The Lieutenants were able to purchase new gray capes for the seniors with donations given by the Booster Club.

This year was not all work for the Lieutenants. The girls had Secret Pals who wrapped their lockers and exchanged gifts with them. The girls also attended a Covered Dish Supper that was sponsored by the parents of the sophomore members. Spring proved to be a busy time for the Lieutenants. The newly elected officers were installed during a ceremony held in Mid-April. The new officers assumed their duties during the half-time performance of the Gray-Gold game. The Lieutenants' enthusiasm supported Lee throughout the year.

Hospitality, Southern Style

Consistently striving to serve Lee and the community, the Hospitality Club once again displayed their good ol' southern hospitality. Under the leadership of Mrs. Karen Jensen, the members met every other Wednesday after school. The approximately 225 member group devoted its efforts throughout the year to the Grady Special School. Among its activities were a party at Easter time and a carnival at Halloween; members led Grady students to the various booths set up at the carnival.

By means of their annual candy sale, the group was able to donate six-hundred dollars towards the carpet fund for the library. Trick-or-treating for UNICEF was yet another of the club's fun projects.

Committee Builds Spirit

The Spirit Committee, together with the Spirit Drivers, promoted spirit not only in the athletes, but also throughout the school. Sponsored by Ms. Doris Countee, the fifty-two committee members met each Tuesday night at 6:30. The Spirit Drivers, a spirit club for the ninth and tenth graders, supported freshman sports.

Fund-raising projects were the Booster Club Drive, the Spirit Chain Contest, and a pom-pom sale. Paper, paint, balloons, brushes, and other items used to further school spirit were purchased with the money. The dedicated Committee painted signs, baked cookies and cakes, made spirit boxes, wrapped houses and rooms, and performed pep rally skits throughout the year in an effort to increase support for school athletics.

Scholars Achieve Rank

With consistent attitudes and academic fervor in mind, scholastically inclined freshmen at Lee became members of the National Junior Honor Society. With basic aspirations for the highest marks for younger students, members of NJHS gained recognition for their performance in class, and set examples for the student body to follow.

The forty-seven member club, under the leadership of Mrs. Anne Hair, provided a tutorial service for students who needed extra help.

Funds used for the induction ceremony were collected by the club from student dues.

Strings Seem to Be the Thing!

To further the interest in and knowledge of string orchestral music, the orchestra was formed. The group, under the leadership of Mrs. Karin Jameson, met after school every day to practice for its various performances. Selling spice shakers as a fund raising project, the members raised money to purchase new music and to repair any damaged instruments.

The Lee orchestra was the background for the spring musical, "Fiddler on the Roof." Performances at shopping malls during the Christmas season and participation in a program at Paul Revere Middle School kept the group busy year round.

Southernaires Keep the Beat

Providing an intensive musical learning experience, the Southernaires choir represented the school at various choral competitions. The 41 member group met and practiced every day under the leadership of Eleanor Grant.

During the year, members had a bake sale and a barbeque, and sold cheese and sausage in order to raise money. This money was in turn used to finance out of town performances and competitions, to buy music, and to pay for the end of the year choir trip.

Members selected to the All Region Choir were Allyson Jervey, Debbie Arrick, Carolyn Edmonson, Donna Brown, Peter Lowrie, Joe Kirkendall, Bruce King, and John Furnace. Joe Kirkendall was selected as an All State Choir alternate.

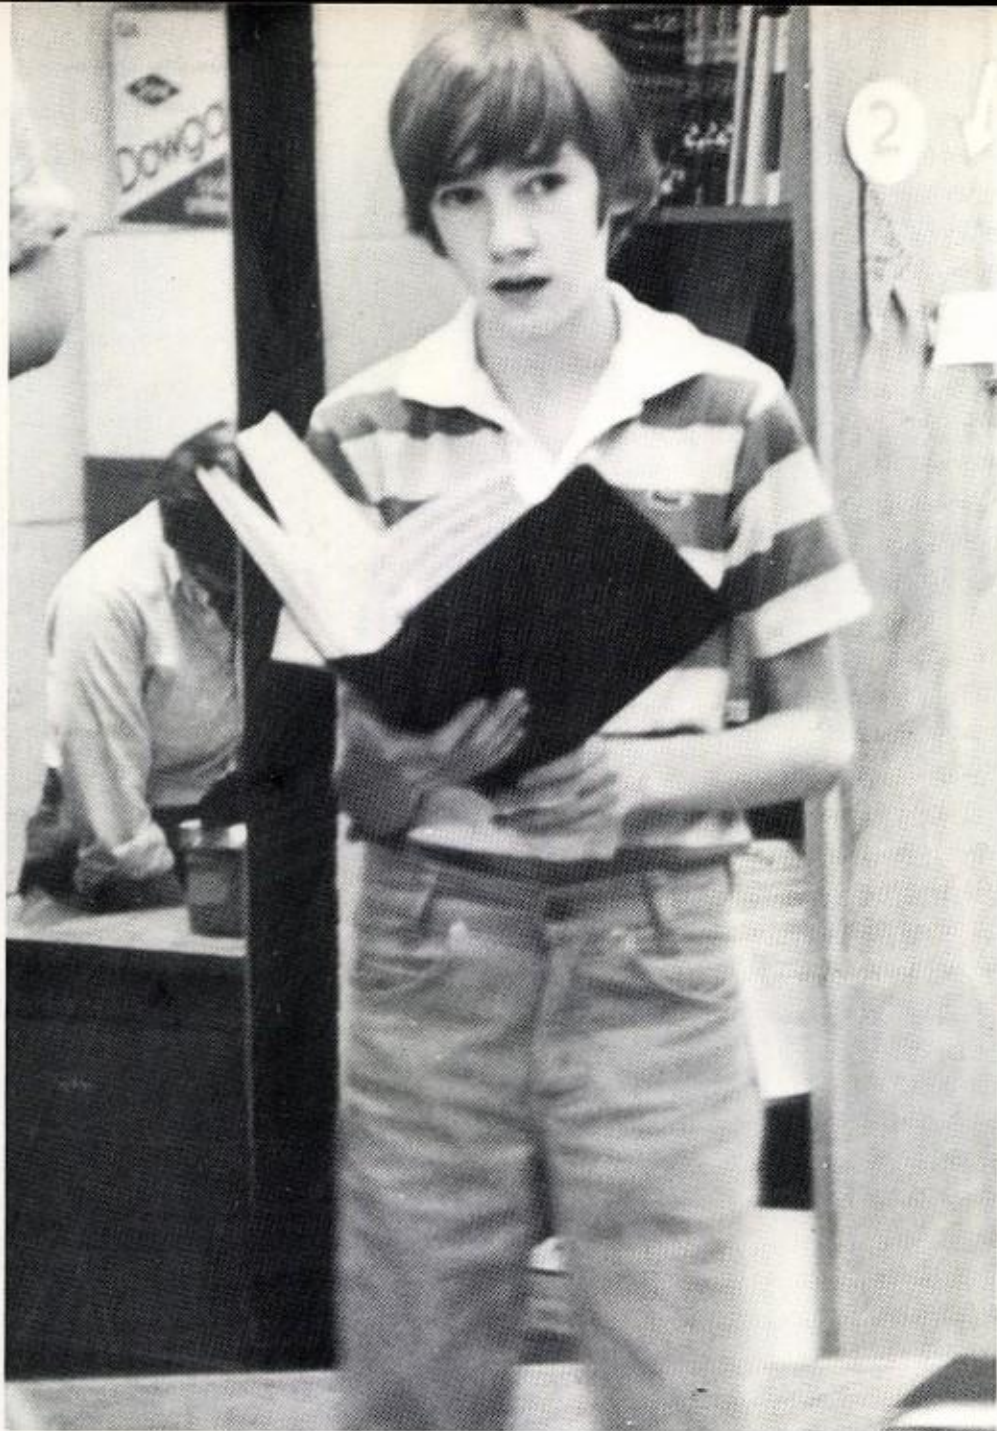

The Southernaires kept in perfect practice by singing in the U.I.L. Contest, in a concert with Mesquite High School in Dallas, in solo and ensemble, and at Christmas time, for various organizations. Finally, at the end of the year, the group took its annual trip — this year to Turn M Dude Ranch.

Officers: Dick Dowling, Accompanist; Traci Daus, Librarian; Krista Roeder, Librarian; Joe Kirkendall, Librarian; Kim Nickel, Treasurer; Carolyn Edmonson, Secretary; Cara Goolsbee, President; Everett A'Costa, Librarian.

As Joe Kirkendall devotedly sings his favorite Japanese Christmas carol, Mark Miller and Brian Terry remain unimpressed.

A fascinated Kevin Adair can't keep his eyes on his music because he spies a cute senior distraction.

Dixies Sing Out Loud

Spreading growth and appreciation of choral art, the Dixiliers presented many musical performances throughout the city. To show their singing and sight-reading abilities, the forty-two Dixiliers competed in contests during the year with Ms. Eleanor Grant, the sponsor.

As a service project, the club sang for the elderly. A cheese and sausage sale, bake sales, and an annual barbeque contributed funds to purchase new filing cabinets and new music. The "Twin Elm" contest, the Christmas program, and a field trip to a dude ranch at the end of the year were activities.

Middle Right: "I think you would sound a lot better if you stopped biting your tongue when you sing," comments Zoe Neale to a tongue-tied Jenny Butler.

Bottom Left: "I bet you didn't know we could all sing and tie our shoes at the same time," chuckle Diane Hunter, Yuka Shinoda, and Catherine Seward.

Rebeliers Reveal Talent

While truly upholding the fine quality of the choral department, the Brigadiers and Rebeliers made their first year at Lee full of excitement. The Brigadiers contained thirty-two talented boys and girls, while the Rebeliers were totally made up of girls. Both choirs, under the direction of Mrs. Anne Hair, sold sausage and cheese to help finance contest fees and purchase new sheet music. They represented Lee in various choral contests and also provided musical entertainment for civic organizations and the whole community. Their performances were brought to Lee in the annual Christmas program and the Spring musical. At the end of the year, the choirs rewarded themselves with a trip down the river at Camp Warnecke.

Musical entertainment was provided by the Marching Generals. With the addition of the ninth grade students, the band contained seventy-five members under the direction of Mr. Brad Braker. A spaghetti supper and an acrylic sale were fund-raising projects for the year. The money earned was used to purchase new recording equipment and to finance a spring trip to Walt Disney World in Florida. Their service projects included performing at the football games, at the basketball games, and at pep rallies. Marching in Foley's Thanksgiving Day Parade and participating in the Christmas program were other activities.

With entertaining people their principal goal, members of Razz-M-Tazz highlighted the school year with productions for the young and young at heart.

The fifteen member traveling drama troupe, whose members were selected from two yearly auditions, were directed by Ms. Linda Shuler and held two shows. The shows, which consisted of several skits rolled into an hour long presentation, were composed and executed totally by Razz members. These shows included such theatrical devices as mime, dance, song, and comedy, and were held in the spring and fall.

With the help of the first student technical director, Razz members compiled the fall show to adapt to a wide spectrum of viewers. This show was taken on the road for performances in other schools and churches. In the spring members created a show specially for the students of Lee.

Formed to stimulate an interest in the performing arts, Dramalee drew in many new members. The club had approximately 200 members and was under the leadership of Miss Linda Shuler. Members participated in various workshops including those in mime and improvisation.

The group presented speakers, attended seminars, and gave parties. By selling tickets to "Fiddler on the Roof," members raised money for drama equipment and field trips. Among the trips taken were a tour through the Alley Theatre, trips to various productions in the community, and finally, at Easter time, a trip to New York City, where the group attended plays and concerts.

Outstanding drama students were rewarded by being chosen to join Thespians, a drama honor society. Prospective members were required to earn a number of points in order to be accepted. These points were given for participation in various drama related activities. After being initiated, the members remain in the group throughout high school.

CSU Keeps the Son Shining

The Christian Student Union was able to bond together those students that had one special belief. The club's thirty members, led by Miss Joan Winter, met twice a week. The first meeting of the week was held on Tuesday mornings in the living room. Here a great variety of religious speakers provided members with inspirational messages. The second meeting was held Friday mornings with another purpose. It provided students with a unique opportunity to meet and discuss the Biblical perspective of life. All meetings were opened and closed with prayer. CSU's outside activities included special gatherings at members' homes and attendance at religious concerts in the city.

ROTC Aims to Please

ROTC members provide needed services at many events.

"If you ask me to flag off one more time, partner, I'm going to put a bullet in your holster," says a perturbed James Beasley to one of his flag-bearing cohorts.

Military knowledge and individual leadership qualities were just some of the many assets acquired by students of the Lee Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC). With Lt. Col. Arthur Butcher in command, ROTC engaged in countless community services.

This club of approximately one hundred sixty members used funds from a car wash, football program selling, valet parking, and other activities to hold its annual military ball, picnic, ROTC chili supper, awards banquet, and talent show.

Members of the Lee Rifle Team participated in several shooting matches against schools such as Madison, Worthing, and Lamar. With high point shooter Geoff McClure, the Lee ROTC led the city with fine marksmanship in all three of the firing positions.

ROTC also took field trips to Texas A&M University, Prairie View A&M University, San Antonio, and Pasadena.

Guards Insure Safety

The thirty-four students who were members of General Guard were responsible for the school's mascot, Uncle Bob. Under the new direction of Mr. Burton Parks, the club became vital, especially during football season. By meeting on the morning of football games, General Guard was able to organize an effective means of delivering, protecting, and displaying the school's mascot.

The members' job did not stop there. They were responsible for getting Uncle Bob to other functions and for his safe storage throughout the entire year. Much time and effort was given by these members in the handling of our school mascot.

These members show that they are generally on the go.

Spanish Club Spreads Culture

Through various activities the members of the Spanish club were able to receive a deeper understanding of the Spanish culture. This club, which consisted of over 150 members, met on the fourth Friday of each month. To help aid the cost of their annual trip to Mexico, the members sold candy and had a Mexican supper. The club gave the children in the Juan Marcos Home a Valentine's Day party and a Halloween party.

Scholars Excel

Outstanding achievement in Spanish scholarship hardly slipped by unnoticed as the Spanish National Honor Society recognized excellence in this area. This club, which consisted of forty-five members, was sponsored by Mrs. Ines Frombaugh and Mrs. Mireya Estévez. The members sold candy to help finance the Spanish department's needs and to finance the club's annual banquet in May. The club went to the Ballet Folklórico, which is a bilingual theater. The members treated the children at Ripley House to a Halloween party and also organized their annual Thanksgiving canned food drive.

Par les Vous Francais?

Furthering interest and knowledge in the language and culture of France, Les Fleurs de Lee helped students to understand French life. The forty-three members, with the aid of their sponsor, Mrs. M. R. Peterson, held their annual faculty breakfast which consisted of delicious French pastries. The club was able to represent Lee in many contests. They also dined on French cuisine to get the true flavor of France.

German, Frankly Speaking

Lee students were able to express an interest in another culture by participating in the German club. Through this club, led by Mrs. Estela Malouf, the German culture came alive. The club's activities involved the celebration of Oktoberfest at the Bavarian Gardens and attendance at the Wurstfest in November.

In April, the club took a trip to Arlington to participate in and to observe the Texas Association of German Students (TAGS) Convention. The funds for this trip came from the money obtained from the club's car wash in October and its candy sale in January.

Romans Get It TOGather

Students joined the Latin Honor Society to further their knowledge and appreciation of Latin and classical civilization. Students with outstanding ability in Latin were also recognized. The club was under the guidance of Mrs. B. Smith.

The LHS sold home-made cookies to help pay for four major activities. In October the club held its annual Roman Banquet Toga Party. They participated in Roman Games at Baytown Sterling in November. The major activity was the co-sponsorship of and participation in the Gulf Coast Classical Convention in February. They competed for ribbons and trophies in academic and non-academic areas. And finally, in March, students participated in a state convention.

Members of the Texas History club worked together in appreciation of the heritage of the Lone Star State. The club's sponsor, Mrs. B. Mitchell, successfully organized the fund raising project for the group's main field trip to San Antonio. The money for their trip was secured by the selling of lollipops.

With the remainder of its funds the Texas History club gave a Halloween party for youngsters at the Pilgrims Rest Day Care Center.

Conservatives Moderate

Dedication to the political system was the goal of the Young Conservatives of Texas. A group of fifty-two students devoted to the involvement of America's youth in the sponsorship of political activity worked under Mrs. Virginia Levitt toward their goals in a spectrum of ways.

Money used from the sale of candy aided them in the accumulation of materials. Members devoted many hours to working for presidential candidates at their political party headquarters.

Lawyers Suit Up

Officers: Pam Wagner, Secretary-Treasurer; Lisa Kay Vann, President; David Feldman, Vice President.

The Future Lawyers club provided a learning opportunity for students interested not only in the law profession but also in all aspects of law enforcement. To learn more about how our court system works and how laws affect citizens, the club visited the courts downtown. Field trips to the police station and to Austin were among the other activities that helped teach members how the government is run.

The twenty members, under the direction of Mr. Floyd Bennett, served the school by helping with campus clean-ups. The money collected from dues was also used to aid the library and to help pay for the beta-max machine.

Debaters Talk It Out

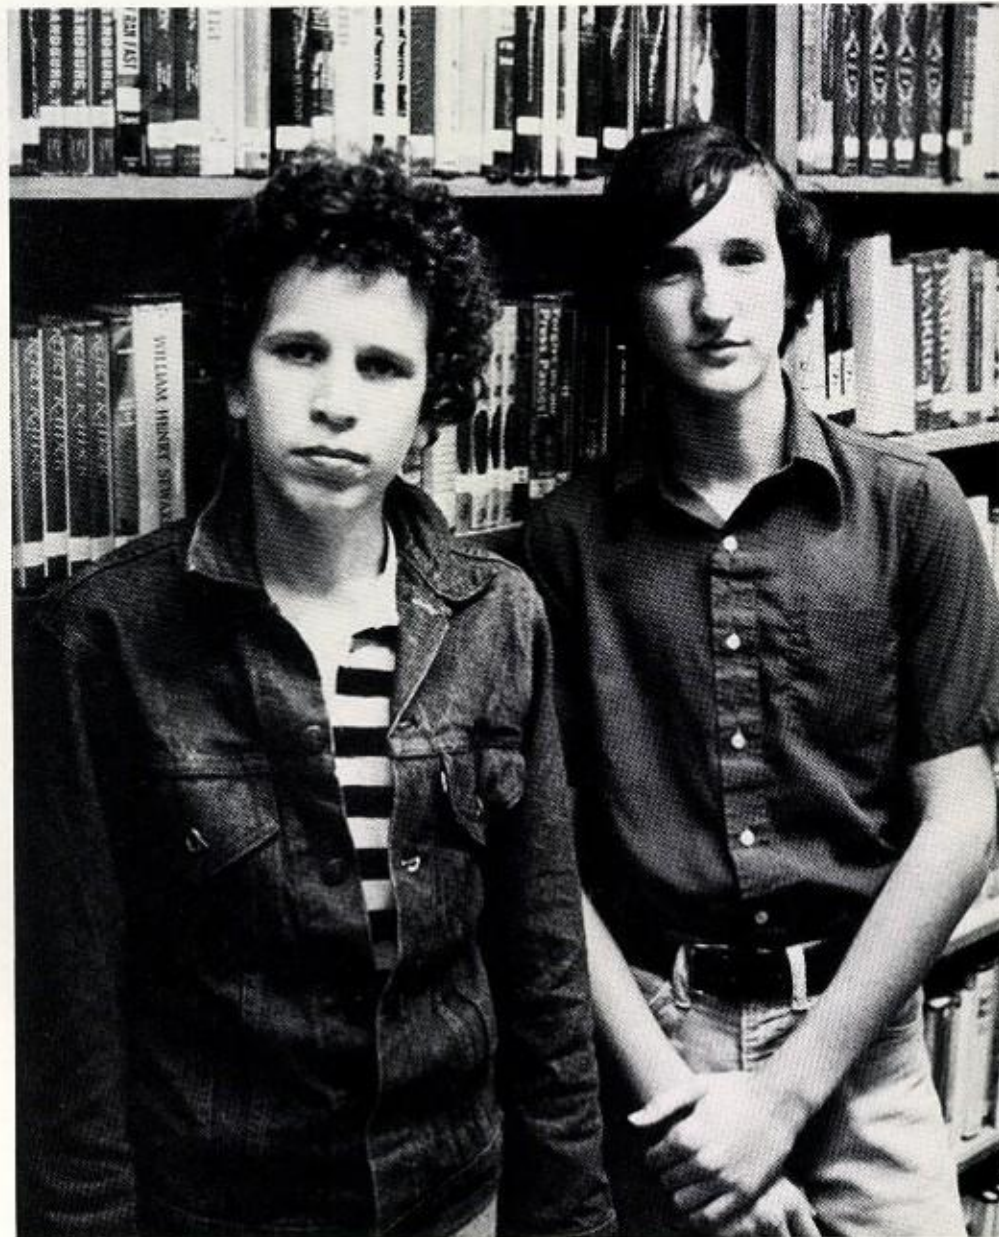

Sitting: George Webber, Ava-Lisa Murray, John New, Greg Herring. Standing: Marc Estrella, James Nolen, Julius Wilson, Randy Watson, Andrew Schulman.

Excellence in oral communication was promoted and accomplished by the Debate Club. The group met every Thursday under the sponsorship of Mr. Nichols. Around Thanksgiving and Christmas time, debaters raised money with their fruit cake sale. This money was spent on debate materials and charter fees to tournaments.

Members traveled to various schools around the state and city to compete. In the tournament held on November fourteenth at Lamar, Andy Nolen and Andrew Schulman won third place in the senior debate. Sam Greer proceeded to the quarter finals in the Lincoln-Douglas Debate, and Ronnie Stone, to the semi-finals in prose reading. On December sixth, the team competed at L.B.J. High School in Austin.

The Debate Club was able to serve Lee by making speakers available for school and community groups, and by participating in campus clean-ups. Finally, the debaters held their year-end banquet.

Legionnaires Have It in Store

Tending the General Store, the American Legion Club provided school supplies for the student body. Beginning this year, there were only two officers, President and Vice-President, instead of the usual five. Mrs. Karen Jensen was the sponsor. Profits from the store were used to purchase essential things for the school. Last year's profits went to the purchase of a video tape player-recorder and a new television set. As a service project, the thirty legionnaires maintained the patio garden.

Exchange With AFS

Promoting international understanding, the American Field Service, AFS, offered its members the opportunity to familiarize themselves with foreign countries and their lifestyles. They had chances to talk with high school students from other countries, and the possibility of visiting another country themselves. With the aid of their annual candy sale in April and May, the club sponsored a student from Italy.

At meetings members listened to speakers and exchange students from other schools. At a special meeting in October, Annette Harris gave a presentation of her visit in Argentina last summer. Also in October, AFS members treated themselves to a Halloween party.

Theta Does It Beta

Under the guidance of Mrs. Thera Yoes, members of Mu Alpha Theta were able to promote the scholarship, enjoyment and understanding of mathematics. Meetings held on the first and third Fridays of each month enabled students to organize field trips and to prepare for contests with various other high schools. The first contest was held in November and six of the ten participants received awards.

A number of chess and backgammon enthusiasts met throughout the year to challenge each other in grueling games of backgammon and chess. The Chess-Backgammon Club met weekly on Thursday mornings so that they could better understand these games. Most members could even be found trying to get a few games in during lunch.

With great care and instruction, Miss Doris R. Countee guided the Lee youth in the direction of better tournament play and individual improvement. Miss Countee also gave extended periods of time to players of little experience and to those who had never been exposed to either of the games.

The club of twenty members bought new sets for each of the two games so that team members could be well prepared to compete in their six tournaments held throughout the year. The president of the club, Clinton Chee, won first place in a tournament held in October.

Students with an interest in science and its procedures, principles, and fields became members of the Science Club. The club, consisting of approximately forty members, was sponsored by Mr. Harold Taylor and Mr. Alvino Fleeks. At meetings held every other Wednesday, members listened to guest speakers representing all branches of science and discussed plans for field trips. The Museum of Natural Science, N.A.S.A., Exxon Company, and the Arboretum were among the club's extensive field trips, which were financed by fundraising projects. The Science Club served Lee by participating in school-wide clean-ups.

JETS Take Off

Students interested in an engineering or a scientific career became members of JETS. Sponsored by Ms. Kathryn Timme, the fifty members of the Junior Engineering and Technical Society met at night on the fourth Tuesday of each month. Each meeting included dinner and a guest speaker.

A candy sale was the JETS' fundraising project for the year. From the money raised, fifteen dollars per month was contributed to a child in India. On March 13, the organization competed in the State Science Competitions.

Divers Get Down

Under the care of oceanography and biology teacher Ms. Doris R. Countée, a handful of Lee students received guidance in the exciting but dangerous sport of scuba diving. The Scuba Club's purpose was to better these students' knowledge of scuba diving, and to insure the safety of the divers through awareness programs.

Approximately 20-30 members were provided with several slide presentations on the sport, and also were provided with a certification course for beginners and refresher courses for seasoned veterans.

FFA Has Good Bull

Through the advancement of agricultural skill, Mr. Roy Sheffield was able to capture the hearts of many General farmers. The Future Farmers of America met once a month and learned a great number of things in a variety of agricultural fields.

Fund raising projects included FFA calendar sales, the annual greenhouse plant sale, and a concession stand at the yearly Robert E. Lee Chapter Livestock Show. The money raised through these projects was used for a club banquet and was also used for their livestock show.

Lee Future Farmers attended the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. Other field trips were the Houston Livestock Judging Contest, and a Leadership Banquet held at Baytown Lee College.

Officers: Christine Natale, Freshman Vice-President; Vickie Parr, Treasurer; Lynn Pirtle, Senior Vice-President; Lisa Kay Vann, President; Sharri Walsweer, Secretary; Robin Bily, Reporter; Linda Kelley, Sophomore Vice-President.

Sponsored by Mrs. Janice Brickers and Mrs. Joyce Jones, the Future Teachers of America offered guidance to students interested in the fields of teaching and tutoring.

Money raised through various food sales was used for several school improvement and service projects, including the first annual Teacher Appreciation Entertainment Day.

Officers had the opportunity to travel to Dallas for FTA conventions, while the rest of the members were able to visit San Marcos.

Homemakers Keep the Fire Burning

Students who wished to take on the joys of homemaking united to form the Future Homemakers of America Club. Sponsored by Miss Beth Bogan, Mrs. Nora Davis, Miss Kathy Molloy and Mrs. Jean Rhiddlehoover, FHA's eighty members met on the first Friday of each month. FHA sold candy and the profits went toward the renovation of the living room of the homemaking department. A faculty Christmas breakfast, Christmas carolling at a nursing home and a float in the homecoming parade were some other activities of the homemakers.

There Is No Place Like Home

Emphasizing youth leadership was the main goal of HECE members. A school-wide assembly directed toward this goal was presented by the group. Miss Jan Jackson taught the Home Economics Cooperative Education classes which led about thirty-five members to be involved in FHA/HERO vocational club. Club members met during school and before class on Fridays.

Club field trips included the Bishop's Palace in Galveston, N.A.S.A., and a tour of the University of Houston campus. Members also attended Citywide Activity Day and the HECE Cooking and Fashion Seminars.

HECE employers were recognized at an Employer Appreciation Banquet in May. Money made from their candy sale in September went toward this function. Funds from years past were used to purchase mini blinds for the new HECE room.

During the Christmas season, members came to the aid of needy families. Also in service to the school, HECE members planted a tree to brighten up the area around their room.

DECA Develops Leadership

Preparing students for future marketing careers, Distributive Education Clubs of America, (DECA), offered its members an opportunity to gain experience in retail and management. DECA gave its members the knowledge and experience necessary to enter the world of marketing. Assisted by sponsors, Mrs. Jackie Freeman and Miss Betty Ann Jones, DECA members participated in sales projects, service projects, and state and national leadership competitions with other DECA chapters. DECA's activities included a Faculty Banquet, the annual Employee-Employer Banquet, and field trips to various places associated with marketing and distribution.

VOCCT Advocates Leadership

With its charter meeting in October, the Vocational Office Career Clubs of Texas got off to a running start. VOCCT is the leadership organization for students in Office Duplication Practices. Responsibility, order, and attitude were the objectives of this club.

Fund raising projects included the printing of programs and tickets for school functions, assembling personalized scratch pads, duplicating materials for teachers, and designing and selling Christmas gift tags. These projects enabled seven students to attend the VOCCT state contests in May. The club held a Vocational Open House for Lee's teachers and it provided small equipment and supplies. Lee truly welcomed this new club and its sponsor, Mrs. Glyndon Willis.

Develops Skills

While improving their vocational skills, the Vocational Opportunities Club of Texas (VOCT) members also developed qualities of leadership and responsibility. The sixty members and their sponsors, Mr. R. L. Ingram and Mrs. Betty Mitchell, watched industry in action while they visited the Coca-Cola Bottling Company and the Nabisco Company.

The VOCT helped the school by planting shrubbery and cleaning the patio area. For its benefit the club had a picnic at Memorial Park and held an Awards Banquet in the spring.

VICA Provides Industry

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America is a national organization for boys and girls who are preparing for careers in industry. Students' participation in VICA provided for increased personal development.

The thirty-five members, guided by Mr. James Nix, met on the first Tuesday of each month. To raise funds for the district and state VICA meetings, students sold "grog coolers." Club members maintained the trash cans around school, and in November invited Lee's staff along with VICA staffers around Houston to a special luncheon.

Increasing interest and pride in and awareness of the community and developing leadership traits were two aims of the Office Education Association (OEA). The club's meeting days were the second Thursday of each month. Thirty-six students were members of OEA under the leadership of Mrs. Rena Aldrich.

Field trips for the year included an area OEA leadership conference in February at Alvin Junior College, a state OEA leadership conference in April in Austin, and a National OEA Leadership Conference in May in San Antonio. Other planned activities included the installation of officers at the Energy Information Center in October and an Annual Employer Appreciation Dinner in April.

For their fund raising projects, the students sold candy, B-Craft Gift Kits, and six-in-one hammers. The money went to the expenses for the Employer Appreciation Dinner, to the payment of participation in area, state, and national conferences, and for project and social expenditures.

Designed to develop leadership and responsibility, the Legal Division of the Office Education Association also provided for its members an insight into operations of the legal profession as well as an insight into all aspects of law enforcement. Enrollment in the O.E. Legal class or P.E.L. was the only requirement needed for membership. Meetings were held on the third Thursday of every month at 7:30.

Sponsored by Mrs. Rita Brown, the club went on several field trips to the civil and criminal court houses. These trips helped the thirty-seven members to witness law in action. LOEA had gift catalog sales and candy sales to fund Area and State Office Education Leadership Conferences. The club's main service project was assisting with the special Olympics at the University of Houston.

Strike It With the "10"s

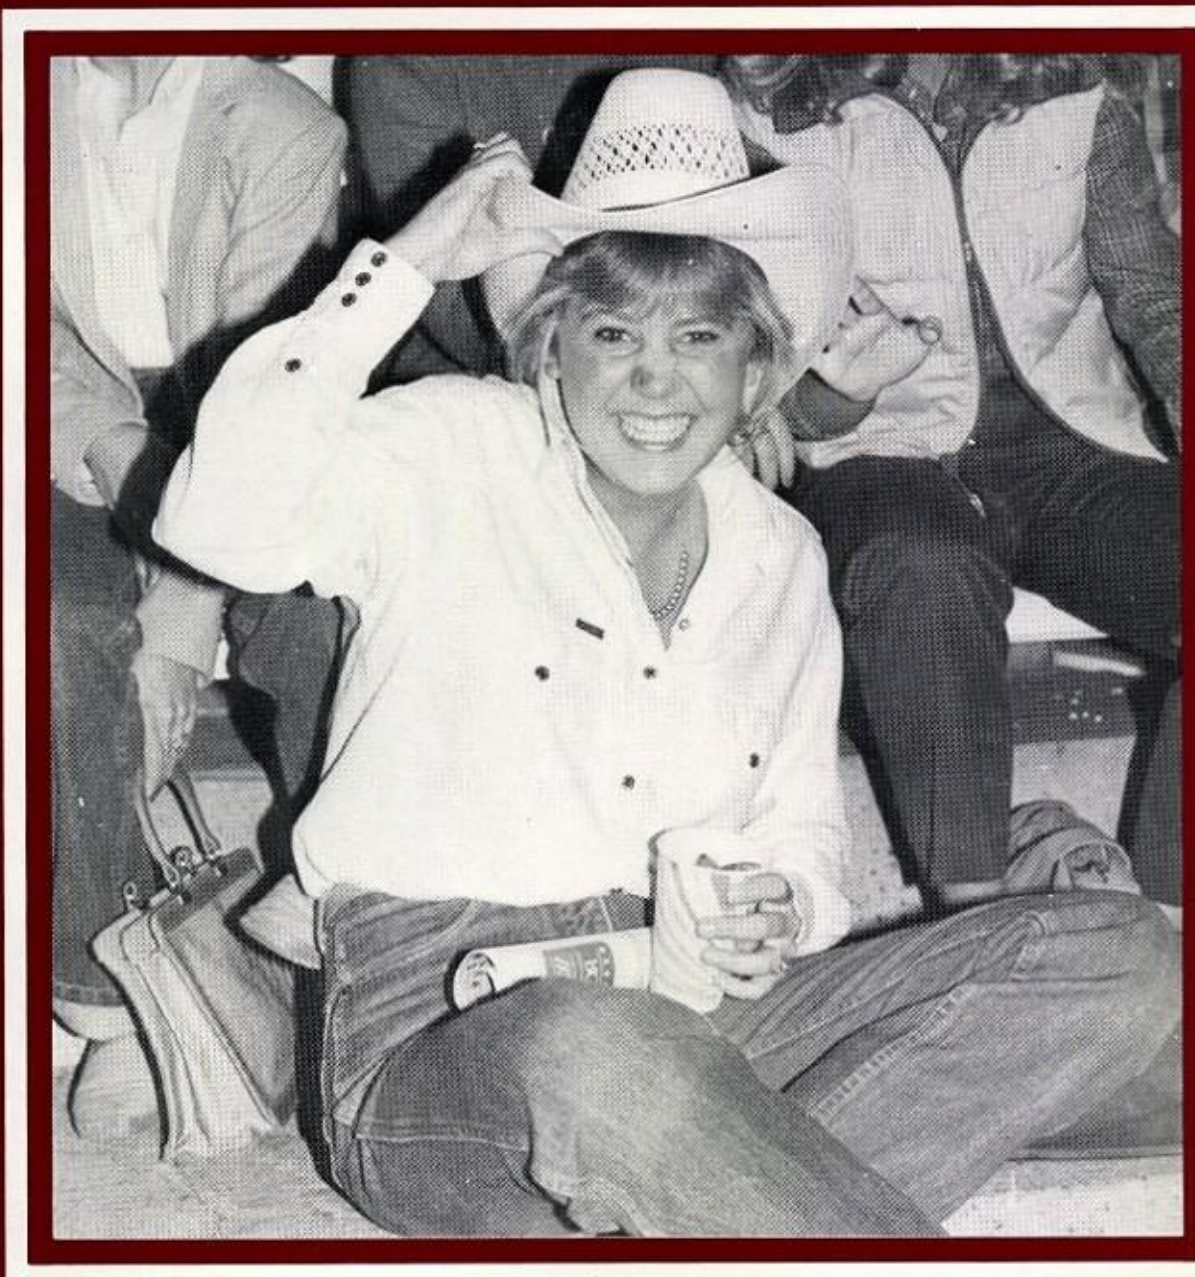

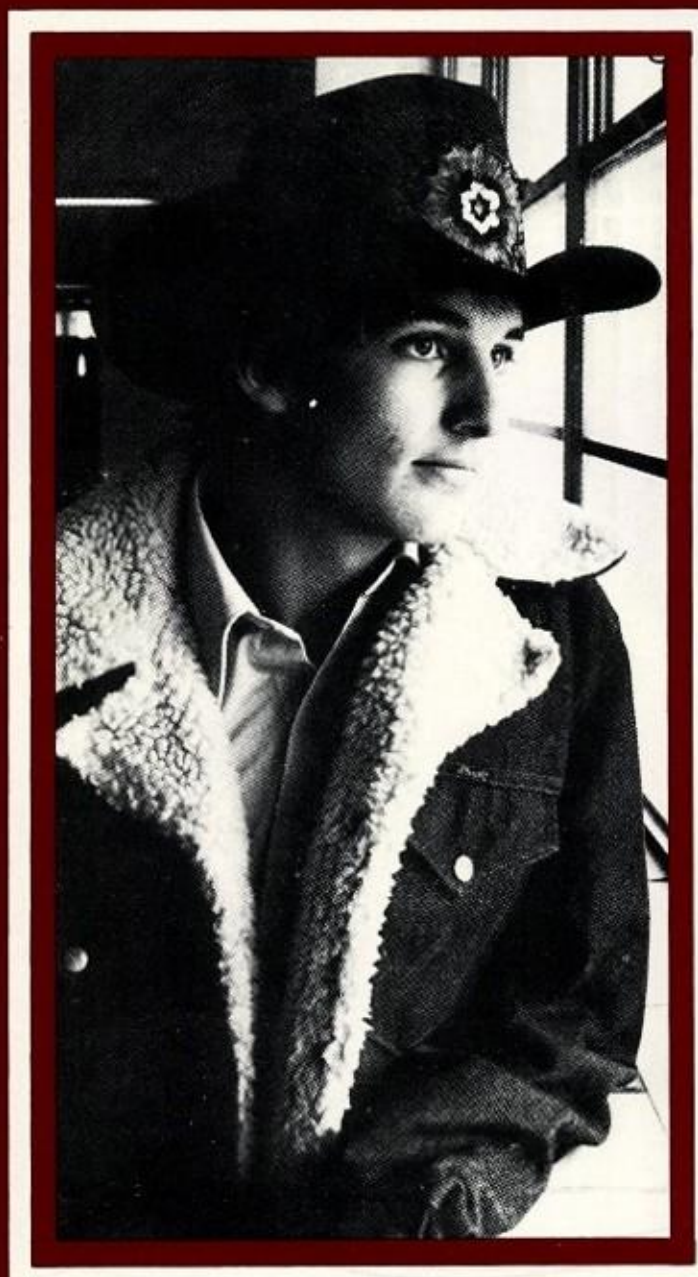

Never to be found in the gutters, the Bowling Club, which was sponsored by Tom Williams, represented Lee in various tournaments. The club, composed of thirty-five Lee and Lamar students, met on Tuesday afternoons at the Windsor Plaza Bowling Alley. At their practices, the members developed the skills needed to represent Lee successfully during the spring city-wide tournaments. High scoring members were awarded trophies at an Awards Banquet held in May.

CLASSES

Lee underwent an overwhelming change when 600 new freshmen and 20 new classrooms were added to the school. While the "fish" spent the year finding their niche, sophomores and juniors became involved in Lee's numerous activities, and seniors enjoyed being at the top. It was the students who made Lee what it was.

Back to Lee

We go back to Lee —
 Cheerfully yet reluctantly,
 Anticipating, yet,
 like the years before,
 Missing those warm, lazy summer days.
 We leave Lee alone —
 Fully aware of the responsibilities
 the future holds.
 We try desperately to save memories,
 searching wildly for solutions:
 "Come visit me!"
 "Let's get together this summer . . ."
 "See you at college!"
 But we realize friendships can fade.
 Each time we talked, partied, and struggled together,
 We gave small bits of ourselves.
 So, we leave Lee —
 Not with a heavy heart, but with one filled with the excitement and joy of a new beginning.

Class of '82

Junior Class Officers: Treasurer, Krista Bodine; President, James Parnell; Vice President, Jane Cooksey; Secretary, Elizabeth Baier.

Used to the relaxed days of summer, Janice Henry, Linda Cummings, Alisa Hardy, Laura Scott, Ruth Chapman, and Diane Ingraham cringe at the thought of returning to school.

Juniors Begin With a Bang!

Now knowing the ropes, Juniors easily got back into the swing of things.

This year was an important and sometimes difficult one. Juniors worked harder and developed a more serious attitude. Along with this came new responsibilities revealed through the development of goals.

Besides being serious in work, Juniors got serious in play. Familiar with clubs and social activities, they immediately began joining in, Enjoying themselves and adding spirit, Becoming an important part of Lee.

A sophomore's life,
What does it mean?
Lots of older people around,
An exciting new scene.

Joining activities of interest,
Giving them your all.
Digging deep into your books
Or choosing to do nothing at all.

You begin to build your future
On decisions you will make
Consider the importance, then,
Of the actions you will take.

Little does cool fool Domonic Barzilla know that he'll be stepping to Lisa Baird's tune in no time.

Freshmen Take First Steps

Another phenomenon
Has come to Lee;
The first to pass through our door.
Different sizes, shapes, and faces of
The Class of '84

Being the lowman
On the Totem-pole
Can sometimes be a bore,
But you can't deny the spirit found
In the Class of '84.

Strong, and yet so silent,
Felt by all in the Freshman Corps,
Rises the newly-invented Battle Cry
For the Class of '84:

"We are special,
We know more,
'Cause we're the Class of Eighty-Four!"

"With this new secret formula, I could destroy the world!" grins mad scientist Shannan Collins.

Far Left: "Don't look now, but your sticky underwear protection has us stuck together," comments Sara Braden to Matt Mabray. Middle Left: "I think you accidentally pinned your corsage to my tux," whispers Mike Morey to an unconcerned Bitsy Hinson. Next Left: "It's my new chocolate fudge diet," exclaims Leslie Weison, "Low-calorie, of course." Left: "How do you expect us to act like studs when you forgot the most important thing?" asks Tim White to a forgetful Jonathan Harris.

Far Left: "Hey y'all, look at this man I found! He wants to take me on a vacation to Huntsville!" exclaims Darcy Davis.
Middle Left: Harold Vance smiles with relief that Wayne Patterson will now be his pal for life.
Next Left: Stace Alfstad and Scott Scherr can't believe their eyes, when they see that Gwen King has to remind Jim Jimmerson to tip his hat to the ladies.
Left: Elizabeth Hightower and Clare Donnelly want to split the LaBare scene.

Left: "Stop, please, no more compliments for Jenna Cissel and Linda Polski," pleads Karen Mitschke, "Their heads are already as big as balloons."

The new year brought with it tremendous developments in national affairs. On the morning of January 20, 1981, Americans witnessed one of the most suspenseful dramas in U.S. history. At 12:00 noon, Ronald Reagan was sworn in as the nation's new President. Half an hour later, the fifty-two American hostages being held in Iran boarded the plane that would take them to safety. Americans united in their expressions of patriotism and thankfulness. Yellow ribbons could be seen not only around trees, but everywhere imaginable. Citizens regained their confidence and pride in the U.S.A.

As President Reagan began to make his policies known, a new feeling of hope began to fill the country. Maybe he would be able to correct the countless problems caused by so many years of rampant bureaucracy. Maybe he would be able to fulfill his campaign promises of returning to the basic principles of the free enterprise system. The American people were optimistic, feeling that maybe Reagan's "new beginning" really would be the solution to the country's problems.

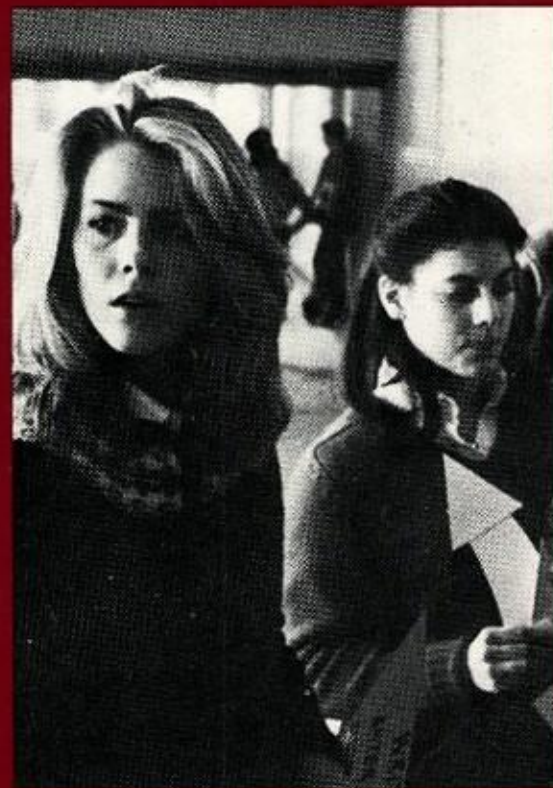

In early spring the administration, spurred by a visit from the Texas Education Agency, made a decided effort to improve Lee High School. Rules and regulations were tightened. Students were informed that walking in the halls without a permit might be punishable by suspension, and that they were no longer allowed to park in the faculty parking lot for fear of being towed. There were other changes, however, which were more popular. Students were surprised to find that floors had been waxed, bathrooms cleaned, and blackboards washed. They hoped that these improvements would be permanent, but soon realized that they would not. As the year drew to a close, teachers lost their nervousness caused by the T.E.A.'s visit, regulations were enforced less strictly, and everything returned to normal.

The occurrences at Lee were made inconsequential by developments on the national level. On March 30, the world's confidence in U.S. stability was shaken by an assassination attempt on the President. It was soon regained, however, on April 14, with the successful landing of the Columbia, the world's first reusable space vessel. The United States had reestablished itself as the technological leader of the world.

The end of the year brought mixed feelings to Lee's students. They realized that a special time in their lives was nearing its end, but they knew that they soon would be embarking on an entirely new and exciting adventure.

The cycle continues We finish one stage of our lives, only to find ourselves at the beginning of a new one. The miracle of life is that it never becomes stagnant, for it is always teaching us new things, taking us to new heights, continuing in its never-ending cycle of changes.

To the 1981 SABER staff:

Only you can fully appreciate all the work that has gone into this book. You know the pains of scrounging for pictures, of "shacking it up" until all hours of the night, and of re-doing pages again and again. But you also know that the joy of finally finishing "our baby" makes it all worthwhile. I thank you sincerely for giving so much of yourselves to the creation of SABER '81, and I congratulate you on a job well done. SABER '81 is you — be proud of it!
